LLOYD SCORES RUSSIANS

14 Nations Call For New Talks on World Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Britain today blamed Russia's "cynical, discouraging and exasperating" attitude for the failure of United Nations disarmament efforts and called for a new start to work out "practical arrangements" for disarmament.

All Canada Congratulates New Senator

Congratulatory telegrams and phone calls continued today to reach Victoria's Mrs. Nancy Hodges who was appointed to the Senate Thursday.

They are coming from all over the Dominion. The farthest came from St. John's, Newfoundland.

Meanwhile Senator Hodges hurried with packing, shopping and last-minute details.

She will fly to Ottawa Tuesday to be sworn into office, and plans to return the following week. Usually the Senate adjourns soon after opening, and re-convenes when new legislation is ready.

It is not known if Mrs. Hodges will participate in the November 24 Victoria by-election campaign. If she does not, it will be the first campaign in years she has watched from the sidelines.

Dies in Fiery Ashes of Stove

VANCOUVER (CP)—An aged man died Thursday in a pyre of fiery ashes which had spilled out of his kitchen stove.

The charred body of John Orr, 82, was discovered by neighbors.

It is believed he suffered a heart attack while cleaning the ash pit of the stove.

Reds Accept UN Plan To Break Deadlock

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The Communists accepted today a United Nations proposal for informal discussions of staff advisers in an attempt to break the deadlock in the talks on arrangements for the Korean peace conference.

A U.N. spokesman said it was the "sense" of the Allied proposal that the meetings should be secret.

Preliminary sessions on the make-up of the peace conference are recessed indefinitely while the lower-level talks are in progress. High level negotiators had met 10 times earlier without progress.

Meanwhile, the 22 American war prisoners who refuse to return home held two Indian officers as hostages today until the neutral nations repatriation commission agreed to hear PW complaints that letters sent to them from the United States contained threats.

The American anti-repatriation charges that the United Nations is attempting to "coerce, slander and bribe them" into returning home.

The U.S. command so far has made no attempt to question the men and get them to change their minds.

No explanations had been scheduled for Saturday because it is an Indian national holiday—the "Festival of Light." Sunday is a "no-work" day for the neutral commission observers at the talks.

Only Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya's personal influence with the prisoners appeared able to save the program because the neutral commission is deadlocked over the use of force in bringing the prisoners before Red "explaners."

THAT ROARING MAY BE NEWEST RCAF FIGHTER!

Canada's newest fighter plane—the supersonic twin-jet CF-100—was scheduled to make an appearance over Victoria this afternoon.

The plane, recently brought to Vancouver from the east, was to be piloted by Flt. Lieut. Mike Kobierski of Campbell River.

At press time it was not known whether weather conditions would permit the planned low-level run.

Abandon Hope For Eight Men Trapped in Mine

BONANZA, Utah (UP) — Eight miners trapped in the fiery and fume-filled shaft of the Bonanza No. 1 Gilsonite mine were given up for dead today.

Rescue workers still labored stubbornly under searchlights to put out the blaze in the mine and reach the men.

The rescue crews looked ghostly and unreal as the probing lights reflected off layers of white paste they had smeared on their faces as protection against the fire's heat. A drizzling rain beat down on 100 spectators gathered around the shaft head.

All hope that the men, trapped by an explosion Thursday morning, were alive was abandoned after two volunteers rode dragline buckets down the shaft to the 300-foot level and were turned back by a jumble of timber and debris.

One trapped miner, Kenneth R. Richens of Vernal, Utah, was married only recently and a wedding reception in his honor had been planned for today.

Another victim, Glen Jackson, is the father of nine children.

"There's no chance those men are alive," said Sheriff Herb Snyder of Vernal, Utah. "If they weren't killed by the blast or the fire, the fumes from the burning gilsonite probably got them."

Gilsonite is a rare hydrocarbon substance found only at Bonanza and used in the manufacture of battery cases and as a base for paints and varnish. It is extremely explosive in powdered form.

It was believed such powder caused the blast that trapped the eight miners Thursday morning.

Russia Demands Chinese Reds at Any Peace Parley

MOSCOW (UP) — Marshal Klement Voroshilov, president of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet said in a major policy speech today that tension in Asia can not be eased without taking Communist China into account.

Voroshilov, principal speaker at a gala celebration at the Bolshoi Theatre of the 36th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, said Russia wants peace in Europe and has repeatedly made proposals for a just settlement of the German problem.

But as regards Asia, he said, the "Chinese People's Republic" can not be ignored, and without it Asian tension can not be relieved.

The U.S. command so far has made no attempt to question the men and get them to change their minds.

No explanations had been scheduled for Saturday because it is an Indian national holiday—the "Festival of Light." Sunday is a "no-work" day for the neutral commission observers at the talks.

Only Lt. Gen. K. S. Thimayya's personal influence with the prisoners appeared able to save the program because the neutral commission is deadlocked over the use of force in bringing the prisoners before Red "explaners."

World's Most Troubled Spot

While Trieste and Rome were reported wracked by riots today, Yugoslav troops applaud antics of feminine reception committee that greeted them when they marched into Trieste's Zone B following recent Anglo-American decision regarding the free territory. The decision gave Zone B to Yugoslavia and Zone A to Italy. However, Yugoslav President Tito has announced that he will not accept the decision—that if Italian troops moved into Zone A he would use armed force to stop them. (SNS Photo.)

Gregory Receives Liberal Nomination

Young Lawyer Flays 'Tax-Mad Tyrants' In Accepting Fight for Victoria Seat

A young lawyer, George F. Gregory, who says B.C. "tax-mad tyrants" have gone far enough, is the Liberal Party's nominee for the Victoria by-election Nov. 24.

He won the nomination by unanimous choice Tuesday night.

He will contest the city seat with Social Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Tory leader Deane Finlayson, CCF's Alfred Matthews and Labor-Progressive Mrs. Doris Blakey.

Deadline for nominations is 1 p.m., Nov. 16.

The Liberal candidate said the Social Credit government is claiming reduced debt on one hand, but on the other is increasing revenue by new taxation.

He added, claims it's not a political party and doesn't play politics "yet it has the unique distinction of being the only party to break every pledge but one in its first session."

"The one was the liquor act, but they 'loused that up' by imposing a 10 per cent tax because they didn't have the courage of their convictions," Mr. Gregory said.

The important thing in the by-election, he said, is whether or not the people have approved the government's policies.

"If Mr. Gunderson is elected, Premier Bennett will interpret it as approval by the voters of his taxing policies," he stated.

He said persons who are against Social Credit should be convinced they must vote Liberal, no matter what party they belong to.

Mr. Gregory scoffed at Premier Bennett's claim that Mr. Gunderson stands head and shoulders above all other financial men.

"Mr. Gunderson boasts of debt reductions but adds taxes," he said. "There never has been a more perfidious group than Social Credit."

Mr. Gregory is a native Victorian. He was educated here and at the University of B.C., and received his LL.B. at Harvard Law School.

He is a son of the late F. B.

GEORGE GREGORY

Gregory, a judge of the Supreme Court of B.C.

The candidate is a naval veteran, serving as a lieutenant on a corvette on the Atlantic during the Second World War. He was wounded when his ship was torpedoed. He was awarded the DSC.

He is married and has two children.

U.S. Expected To Test Super Bomb Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is believed to be getting set to test fire a new super bomb.

It will be a thermonuclear or fusion weapon, as was the shock-sized hydrogen device exploded at Eniwetok a year ago.

But it may incorporate (1) new materials (2) the same materials in different proportions, or (3) the same materials in the same proportions but rigged more compactly to make a deliverable combat weapon.

Informal sources here have indicated that the new tests will be conducted at Bikini in the spring.

Bikini, 180 miles east of Eniwetok in the Pacific's Marshall Islands, has been converted by the Atomic Energy Commission into a new weapons proving ground.

Communist Plot

TEHRAN (AP)—The military governor of Tehran announced today that three men have been arrested in connection with an alleged Communist plot to assassinate Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran.

HE NEEDED MORE THAN 7 DAYS!

Churchill, reminding Roosevelt that "even the Almighty" took seven days to make the world, asked for more time in which to discuss the organization that was to become the UN. The Nobel prize-winner recalls this incident and tells of the bitterness that crept into Big Three negotiations in today's installment of 'Tragedy and Triumph' on Page 10.

FIVE-POWER TALKS HOPED FOR TRIESTE

U.S. Takes Serious View of Rioting

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States blamed "irresponsible elements" in Trieste today for what it called the "most serious" rioting of the past two days in which at least 10 persons were killed.

At the same time the government appealed to the people of Trieste to co-operate fully with efforts of Allied military authorities to "maintain order."

State department press officer Henry Suydam said in a statement that the state department "takes a most serious view of these incidents and is continuing to follow developments in Trieste closely."

Suydam told reporters that diplomatic negotiations "are still in progress" with Britain, France, Italy and Yugoslavia looking toward a five-power conference on the explosive Trieste problem. He said the state department hopes such a conference will be held and "that it will not be too long delayed."

At Least 10 Dead; Embassies Bombarded

By CHARLES RIDLEY

TRIESTE (UP)—Disputed Trieste was wracked today by bloody riots.

The violence, fanned by strongly-Nationalist Italian elements, brought death to at least 10 persons, injury to scores and touched off international chain reactions including:

1. Armed intervention by U.S. and British troops to restore order.

2. A formal Italian protest to the United States and Britain against the shooting of Italian demonstrators at Trieste.

3. Anti-American and Anti-British demonstrations and rioting in Rome.

American and British troops set up machinegun positions and patrolled Trieste's blood-stained streets in armed jeeps under orders to use bullets and bayonets if necessary to preserve order.

At least temporary calm was restored after the appearance of the western allied troops, but the situation was tense and explosive.

U.S. and British soldiers in

full battle kit were called out when local Trieste police reported the situation out of control in spite of their efforts to restore order with gunfire and tear gas.

The disorders began three days ago as pro-Italian student demonstrations in support of Italy's claims to the Trieste free territory which she is disputing with Yugoslavia.

Today the riots had mushroomed into bitter, popular anger against the deaths of demonstrators under police gunfire and had become an international incident.

British, U.S. Embassies Stoned

In Rome the rioting was strongly anti-American and anti-British. British consular offices and other installations were stoned and smashed. British civilians were beaten and British cars were wrecked. Thousands of demonstrators attempted to smash their way into the American embassy and battled police in front of its barred iron gates as U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce watched from inside its grounds.

Police broke up a second demonstration in front of the embassy early tonight by drenching 3,000 marchers with powerful streams of water from fire hoses.

Italy's Premier Giuseppe Peella, who conferred earlier with Mrs. Luce, handed formal notes of protest to Britain and the United States later in the day.

He also called Italy's ambassador home from London for urgent consultations.

Upwards of 20,000 persons—mostly students—rioted and demonstrated in Rome.

At the height of the Rome disorders Dr. Allen Tate, of the University of Minnesota, was saved from a beating by rioting extremists when friendly Italians intervened. His car was assaulted by students.

When the rioters attempted to drag him from his automobile, fire a group of Italians not participating in the riot formed a cordon around him and prevented the students from reaching him.

Dr. Tate is a visiting lecturer in literature and poetry at Rome University.

More than 50,000 were involved in the bloody disorders which erupted through Trieste's wide squares and rumbled through the city's downtown boulevards.

U.S. Military Police Sgt. Andrew Mare of Fort Morgan, Colo., and his driver, Cpl. Fred Durer of Venice, Ill., described the rioting in front of Trieste's city hall in the Piazza Unità and adjoining streets.

"The crowd was really mad when we first showed up," Mare said.

"They threw three big bombs, but I couldn't see how many were killed."

"There was blood all over the place. The paving stones were slick with it."

The deaths resulted from efforts of the local police, trained by the British and U.S. forces, to control the crowds with gunfire.

The rioting began three days ago as Italian student demonstrations in support of Italy's claims to Trieste. They got out of hand after three persons were killed Thursday by police gun fire.

LCB Sets New Rules For B.C. Liquor Ads

All liquor advertising in B.C. will be subject to direct approval of the Liquor Control Board. It was disclosed today in an effort to curb a spurge of liquor advertising when the new drinks-by-the-glass system gets into operation.

It also will refuse to approve ads with exaggerated claims about liquor, or carrying any statements which are not indisputable facts.

The board has also ruled that liquor manufacturers or distributors must submit their advertisements directly to the board for approval. It cannot be done by either advertising agencies or by newspaper publishers who receive the ads for publication.

Previously LCB's control over advertising only covered the size and type of the well-known notice: "This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board."

Under the new ruling the Liquor Board has "suggested"

BOW STREET COURT IN BEDLAM

200 Riotous Students Appear After Wild Guy Fawkes' Night

LONDON (AP)—Shouting, hymn-singing university students turned famed Bow Street Court into a bedlam today when hearings began on mass arrests resulting from one of the most riotous Guy Fawkes nights in London history.

Singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," they marched through the packed and littered Covent Garden market area, throwing exploding firecrackers in their wake, and tried to rush the doors of the court when they were thrown open.

Police, standing shoulder to shoulder, barred their way. The police finally managed to clear a space, and the more than 200 students arrested Thursday night were ushered into the court, all charged with "wantonly discharging a firework in the street."

Once inside the court's two chambers, most of the students pleaded guilty to the charges and paid small fines.

Some students snarled proceedings by insisting on calling witnesses from the shouting, jeering throng outside—an almost-impossible job.

The hearings were the aftermath of a wild outburst Thursday night in London's west end, climaxed by a march of 10,000 university students and other young people on the Houses of Parliament.

In Piccadilly Circus, 65 bobbleheads stood shoulder to shoulder against assaults on the famous statue of Eros—Greek god of love—which dominates the traffic circle. Climbing the statue is a favorite stunt of celebrating Britons.

The annual celebration—in honor of the 17th-century plotter who tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament—started off calmly with millions of Britons dancing around bonfires, burning effigies of "the Guy" and drinking ale.

TO PALACE

The rioting erupted, student had refused them a permit for a big procession through London streets and a bonfire. A police spokesman denied such permission had been withheld, and said the only restriction was an old one forbidding processions or meetings within a mile of Parliament while the House is in session.

As police fought off student attacks on the Eros statue, the mob surged out of Piccadilly Circus with the cry: "On to Parliament."

The students fought their way through a mile of streets to the locked gates of Parliament Yard.

Some marchers detoured en route into Downing Street and tossed firecrackers against the windows of No. 10, Prime Minister Churchill's official residence.

Unable to penetrate the police cordon at the Parliament Buildings, the crowd then tried to march to Buckingham Palace. But mounted policemen gradually restored order—seven hours after the outburst began.

Vancouver Trade Unionist Gets 5 Years

VANCOUVER (CP)—Daniel O'Brien, 63-year-old former trade union organizer, was sentenced by Mr. Justice H. W. Davey in Assize Court here Thursday to five years for conspiracy to kidnap a woman.

O'Brien was convicted of conspiracy to kidnap a middle-aged woman who lived across the street from him and keep her in another house against her will.

During the trial a crown witness testified that O'Brien had told him that the woman was a former girl friend and he "wanted her back."

Mr. Justice Davey said the offense was serious and premeditated and was planned over a period of six weeks.

"I regard kidnapping more seriously than offenses relating to money," he said. "I consider the evidence indicates you are a menace to society."

Courtenay Council Lacks Candidates; Too Many Chores

More people might run for Courtenay city council posts if there were someone to help with the chores of running the city, according to a mayoralty candidate.

"Not only do the mayor and aldermen have to attend meetings, but they have to do some of the 'donkey work' themselves," said Ald. Lester Dobell.

"It might be a good idea to have someone to help out, but possibly not as city manager."

The city-manager plan was put to the council by Courtenay-Cornwall Chamber of Commerce.

Ald. William Moore suggested some of the chamber members might run for council, or at least send a delegation to explain their reasons for a city-manager plan.

Oakalla Lets Prisoner Go By Mistake

VANCOUVER (CP)—Prison farm officials here are looking for three escapees—two who made it "the hard way" and one they let out by mistake.

Ronald McGuire, a 34-year-old picture of innocence, murmured not a word as he stepped through the gates after serving only 233 days of a 729-day sentence for fraud.

An Oakalla prison official said that a check showed several men were released Thursday and that "McGuire's card was pulled from the files by mistake."

The two other men, who had to make it without "help," are Edward Johnson, 20, and Kenneth Hupe, 19, who fled from a work gang during a rainstorm.

Mossadegh's Treason Trial Opens Sunday

Drunkometer Helps Convict Vancouver Man

VANCOUVER (CP)—Evidence from a drunkometer was used in a Canadian court for the first time here Thursday.

Introduced by the crown, the evidence was used to convict motorist Fred Sapruff on a charge of driving while his ability was impaired by alcohol. He was fined $50 by Magistrate W. B. McInnes.

Police Sgt. Jim Lavery testified that Sapruff's reading on the breath-testing apparatus was .165, a full point above the accepted level on the machine for intoxication.

Sergeant Lavery testified that while Sapruff could pass all the "clinical" tests, walking a line and picking coins off the floor, he felt the man was definitely impaired.

Sapruff was arrested after his auto struck a parked car.

Clemson was found dead in a truck at Whitehall, near Parrsboro. Mrs. Claude Winters Jr., said at an inquest she saw a man with a rifle approach the truck shortly after Clemson had driven her home.

Bennett Wants Gunderson Elected To Keep Tory Bloc Intact—Laing

Premier Bennett wants Finance Minister Gunderson elected so there will be another Tory to join himself and Attorney-General Robert Bonner in the cabinet. Liberal Leader Arthur Laing said at a Liberal nominating convention on Thursday night.

Mr. Laing noted the Secreds are saying the only issue in the campaign is whether Victoria wants a cabinet minister.

"If Victoria wants a cabinet minister, why didn't Premier Bennett appoint William Chant, MLA? He's had more experience—(agriculture minister in Alberta) than any of the others. It would have done away with the need for a by-election."

"He didn't appoint Mr. Chant because he is a true Secred, and Mr. Gunderson is anti-Secred."

"Premier Bennett wants another Tory to join himself and Attorney-General Bonner," said Mr. Laing.

Mr. Gunderson, he said, isn't seeking election in his "home base" of Vancouver because people there are fed up with him.

Mr. Laing said the Secred government is the most inexperienced B.C. has ever had.

"We can't go on electing people like this who don't know the business of the province. There's something wrong when persons are elected who have been in the province less than two years. There's one MLA who never saw the largest settlement in his riding until after he was elected."

Mr. Laing was surprised at the "Elect Gundy" slogan in "staid old Victoria."

If the Liberals wanted to get down to a "dead-end kid basis," he said, they could say "we're gunning for Gundy."

Defeat of Mr. Gunderson, the Liberal leader said, would mean Premier Bennett would give better government.

"The government would realize it must come back and ask the people what they want. They talk about the will of the people, but one man is deciding the people's will now. If Mr. Gunderson is defeated the government will try for the first time and Premier Bennett would come back to earth."

A government, he said, can't be built on "emotionalism and sectionalism."

"The only dividend Social Credit has brought to B.C. is an unparalleled amount of suspicion and ill-will. No government should attempt to put one group against another."

Duncan Campaigns For $1,500,000 120-Bed Hospital

A campaign for a new $1,500,000 hospital to serve the Duncan area is expected to start this winter, directors of King's Daughters' Hospital announced in the up-Island city today.

Present objective is a four-story building of fireproof reinforced concrete construction with 120 beds, X-ray room, laboratory, offices, and five operating rooms.

Plans also call for a complete maternity wing.

The present building was first put to use in April, 1911, with accommodation for eight patients. Various wings have been added to bring the number of beds up to 110.

Sketch plans have been prepared by a Victoria architectural firm.

Directors have said money by-laws would apply to municipalities in the district, but that a "somewhat different" procedure would be followed in the unorganized area.

SOCRED VENOM PROOF OF FEAR, NANCY HODGES TELLS LIBERALS

The biggest tribute to the strength of the Liberals in the Legislature was the "venom" directed at them by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Senator Nancy Hodges told a Liberal nominating meeting Thursday night.

The attacks were a demonstration of the premier's fear of the Liberal Party, Mrs. Hodges said.

"He knows the Liberal Party isn't dead. He knows it's only a temporary defeat."

She termed as "insidious propaganda" the contention that Finance Minister Einar Gunderson should be elected by acclamation.

"Who caused the election, anyway?" she asked. "By sheer political maneuvering Mr. Wright resigned and now they tell the people they should take Mr. Gunderson willy-nilly. I'd willy-nilly him. Let him fight every inch of the way. Why should the people give up their right to say who they want?"

Wife of Slain Alaska Man Mum on Relations With Negro

SEATTLE, Wash. (UP)—Alaska territorial law where murder is a bailable offense, Bionde Diane Wells, free on $5,000 bond, kept silent today on reports she "made advances" and had "intimate relations" with a Negro jazz drummer accused with her of slaying her millionaire husband in Fairbanks, Alaska.

Mrs. Wells, 31, and drummer Johnny Warren, 33, are accused of murdering Cecil Wells, 51, prominent Fairbanks businessman and president of the Alaska Chamber of Commerce.

Wells was found dead in bed Oct. 17 in his apartment. He had been shot in the head with a .38 calibre pistol.

The slim, blue-eyed blonde was released from custody Thursday but must appear before Judge Harry Pratt in Fairbanks on or before Nov. 23 in connection with the murder.

On advice of her attorney, Wallace Aiken, Mrs. Wells declined to discuss the case.

Aiken said Mrs. Wells was released on bail because she is charged with murder under story Oct. 30.

RETIREES—Twenty-six years of public life have ended for former education minister William Straith. He announced his retirement from active politics at a Liberal nominating convention Thursday night. He was in the legislature 16 years, five as education minister, and earlier served on the city council and school board. Mr. Straith will concentrate on his law practice.

Pickets Withdrawn From Quesnel Mills

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A spokesman for the Interior Lumbermen's Association said Thursday night that pickets had been withdrawn from some 20 lumber mills in the Quesnel district.

The spokesman said withdrawal of pickets by the CIO International Woodworkers of America Union followed the granting of an injunction restraining workers on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from refusing to pick up railway cars loaded with lumber from the picketed plants.

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Community Chest collections topped the $1,000,000 mark Thursday but officials said the total was only 76.8 per cent of the objective.

Volunteers Called to Wage Fight Against New Liquor Outlets Here

The Greater Victoria Citizens' Association has issued an appeal for volunteers to help in a drive "to keep Victoria free from any new type of liquor outlets."

The association, at a meeting Thursday night in Central Baptist Church, noted the need for persons to circulate petitions calling for a local option vote. The "dries" can force a plebiscite by getting signatures of 35 per cent of the electors in a licensing area.

The drive for signatures will get under way soon.

"Let the opposition know it has an adversary in us and that we will acquit ourselves honorably in the cause which we consider to be just," said Frank Hunter, chairman.

The chairman suggested members of the audience co-operate with ministers of their churches in forming committees to work with the association in getting the local option plebiscite.

Several speakers addressed the meeting on the menace of alcohol. They feared additional outlets will increase liquor consumption.

Edward Bergeron, John Howard Society secretary, criticized the government for failing to include in the new liquor legislation provision for rehabilitation of alcoholics.

Dr. W. H. Roberts of Resthaven Hospital said Victoria is a wonderful city comparatively free from drunkenness and crime.

"Victoria must not become just another city of America," he stated.

The Liberals' Choice

THE LIBERALS OF VICTORIA have made an excellent choice in nominating George Gregory as their candidate in the November 24 by-election. Mr. Gregory is a young man who already has proved his merit in his chosen profession of law, is a respected member of the Oak Bay council on which he has given commendable public service, and the modest possessor of a distinguished war record.

His acceptance of the nomination furnishes clear evidence of the vitality and life of the party whose standard he carries. A native son of Victoria, a member of a family highly esteemed in the capital, he reflects the spirit of Liberalism not only required to give the riding the type of representation it needs, but to strengthen the voice of sanity and progressiveness in the Legislature.

Mr. Gregory was educated in this community and at the University of British Columbia before proceeding to Harvard to study law. That background has given him a thorough appreciation of Victoria's hopes and aspirations as they can be grasped by no outsider.

On active service with the Navy he displayed in wartime those characteristics of courage, leadership and ability which won for him the DSC and other recognition from the most senior ranks of the service. The fact that the Navy has accepted and applied certain suggestions made by him, as a junior officer in combat, carries its own imprint of merit.

In postwar civilian life he has contributed substantially to community welfare, not only as an Oak Bay councillor, but as former president of the Gyro Club, as a conscientious member of the Navy League of Canada, and as honorary solicitor for the B.C. Protestant Orphanage.

Mr. Gregory has a wide knowledge of and deep respect for Liberal principles. He is not the product of a political machine, nor do his affiliations commit him to the mistakes of the past.

The Twilight Continues

MR DULLES EVIDENTLY IS right in believing that Russia has no desire, at the moment, to settle any major disagreement with the free world. The invitation of the United States, Britain and France to confer on the future of Germany and Austria has been rejected by Russia. The rejection, as usual, is disguised by counter-proposals which the West cannot accept and which Russia obviously did not seriously intend. Thus Sir Winston Churchill's great project of a Big Four meeting to ease world tensions seems to have collapsed, or at best is postponed indefinitely.

Sir Winston's significant speech in the British Parliament this week tacitly admits the failure of his earlier hopes. He could not persuade the United States Government to go along with him to meet the Russians until, in the case of the German and Austrian problems, Russia had shown some sign of willingness to bargain. The new Russian note shows no such willingness. Sir Winston seems to agree that, under these conditions, it is useless, for the present anyway, to proceed with the plan which he announced last May.

On the other hand, he thinks that the world's tensions have lately eased without any formal agreements of any sort. The Malenkov Government, he suspects is so fully occupied with its own problems at home that it has no time or desire for further adventures abroad. This conclusion may well be sound but there are dangers in it—the danger that, reassured by the greatest statesman of the times, the free nations will relax their own defenses, even though Sir Winston has warned them against this folly.

Apparently, if any formal agreements are impossible, the world must continue indefinitely in the twilight of a struggle short of war, with nothing settled and everything at the mercy of incalculable incidents like the stalemate in Korea and Mr. Rhee's threat to resume the war on his own account. Perhaps nothing better than this could have been reasonably expected, given the present attitude of the Russian Government. In short, the free world must learn to live for some time at best in a condition which is neither peace nor war.

Our New Senator

AMONG PEOPLE WHO HAVE followed the distinguished career of Mrs. Nancy Hodges, the announcement of her appointment to the Senate has been received with satisfaction rather than surprise.

Her contributions to the public life of British Columbia and the nation have been substantial. Her record in the provincial Legislature, no less than in the woman's world of Canada, is one to inspire confidence and command respect.

On many occasions her abilities and character have been recognized. Not only was she the first woman named Speaker in any legislature or parliament in the Commonwealth, she has enjoyed other tributes both within the political realm and extending far beyond it. Her selection at different times as president of the National Federation of Liberal Women and as Canada's woman of the year—an honor conferred by the Business and Professional Women's Clubs of this country, which also recommended her for the Senate—furnishes proof of the esteem in which she has been held. From the small church bazaar—and she has opened literally scores of them—to the higher councils of government she has earned a position unique in Canada.

By her elevation to the Upper Chamber Mrs. Hodges resumes the tasks of public service interrupted by the vagaries of political fortune last June. Her translation to the national field permits her to exercise again those talents with which she is richly endowed. To the Senate she adds a strong and eloquent woman's voice. And to its deliberations she takes a well stored mind, informed on matters of consequence locally, provincially, federally and internationally.

Her associates in the newspaper profession join countless other friends in wishing her continued success.

The Chronics Still Need Beds

CONSTRUCTION OF THE VICTORIA Nursing Home addition appears to be blocked by another technicality—this time on the question of acquiring a piece of city-owned property for the job.

The voters who approved the nursing home by-law recently and the public in general, which has been in favor of providing accommodation for chronic cases, will be irritated by this new impediment.

At the same time, the nursing home committee does not escape criticism. Nothing in the contentious negotiations to date has indicated that the mayor and certain aldermen would rescue the committee from the dilemma of preparing to build on property it does not own.

Unquestionably the difficulty will be overcome, just as have others since the nursing home addition plan was launched and ran afoul of technicalities. To date the project has been saved by a vote of the property-owners, by the co-operative action of Provincial and Federal Governments and by widespread public sympathy. Some obstructions have seemed unnecessary, but the committee should be very careful to avoid creating the opportunity for more hurdles which would bar chronic nursing home cases from the beds they so urgently need.

Passing of a Stiff-Necked Generation

THE OLD SAYING HAS IT THAT clothes make the man, and in the case of modern clothes and modern diplomats, they make him loquacious.

To the observation that the diplomat of today, unlike those of an earlier era, will speak his piece on any subject at any time on the slightest invitation, the style expert replies that this is due to the soft collar now in fashion. In the days when high, sharp-pointed collars enclosed the diplomatic neck, the man of few words escaped having his throat cut. Today's easy attire encourages an easy manner, and an easy flow of words. On the principle that the oftener a diplomat opens his mouth the oftener he may put his foot in it, the current lounge styles therefore present a marked danger to the global statesman and to those whom he represents.

Obviously, tighter collars and tighter lips would result in fewer tight international situations. Thus the haberdashers of the world may well be considered to hold our fate in their smartly gloved hands, to an extent unexampled even in the presidential days of Mr. Truman.

Now Explain to Me . . .

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I SHALL have to disguise the geography ever so slightly. Otherwise, I guarantee that the following letter is genuine. It was written by the president of an outfit of bagpipers, and was addressed to the St. Andrew's and Caledonian Society of a certain city, which we will call Wincouper or Vanipeep or even Toronto.

Dear Sir: Your letter to Mr. Huntley of June 11 regarding the visit of our Pipe Band to Toronto. "Our Pipe Band has just returned from a very successful time at Montreal being the winners in the Open Championship and accepting the Macrimmon Trophy. We were also successful in being declared the Champion Pipe Band of our company, both results being very gratifying to the members of the Pipe Band. While we might have given your invitation a little consideration we feel the unsatisfactory result of the competition last year was not to our expectation and in view of the unsatisfactory way in which the judging had been given against us do not feel inclined to spend or increase our expenses in travelling to Toronto and feel the same terms might again be handed out to us.

"On behalf of our Association I thank you for your invitation but circumstances as I have already stated leaves us in a position of being unable to accept your kindness at this time.

Yours truly,
X Y Z President."

I SUPPOSE you could call this pettiness on a grand scale. I love the idea that a first prize should be guaranteed to the hand in advance. One likes to know where one is, does one not?

QUOTH THE RAVEN
THERE is a raven who lives along our beach. According to the bird books, the ravens of Canada are ever retreating further and further north to get away from it all, but our raven seems to like the south coast of B.C. well enough. Or did, until this morning.

The tide had left a large and very dead fish on the beach. This was discovered by a marmalade cat who hangs around the beach waiting for exactly this sort of treat. But he had barely started on his lovely breakfast when he was discovered by about fifty gulls, who promptly attacked him. And then, coming to see what the fuss was about, who should join in the fun but old Brer Raven himself.

HE got in a good peck or two at the cat while the cat was busy with some gulls, and he croaked some very harsh sentiments about cats and managed to sound very warlike and alarming. Between him and the gulls, they drove the cat under a log, where it remained most of the day. But then, as so often happens today in war, the gulls attacked the raven and sent him home, grumbling and cursing. They then attacked their breakfast. Quoth the raven, nevermore would he help a gull.

BOLD FRONT

A SHORT time ago, there was a very affecting article in a mainland paper about the trials and triumphs of a local tattoo artist. He said he gets tired of doing hearts and flowers and anchors and mottoes and such. Especially daggers, which are all the rage among tattooed men just now, he can't tell why. Before he dies, he wants to tattoo a really first-rate picture on somebody. Perhaps da Vinci's Last Supper, he said. That's a fine ambition. I wish him luck. But I think a tattooist might do better in Pointillisme, which means painting in little dots. The ideal medium, surely. But perhaps it doesn't matter. A hundred years from now, where will the painting be? The man who has the painting on him may laugh sardonically when you tell him "Ars longa, vita brevis," which means that life is short but art abides. He often feels life is very long. But in the case of tattooing, art and life are of the same duration. For dust they are, and unto dust they shall return. Not that da Vinci's fresco is lasting any too well either, if it comes to that.

THIS tattooer, this man of sorrows, said that a woman once came to him and wanted to be tattooed all over. He figured it would take about two years. After about a year he had more or less tidied up the front half of the job. "If 'tidy' is the exact verb I'm seeking, which somehow I doubt. But then she got married, and came to the studio no more. How do you like that for a nasty blow? Many a painter has had a model who vanished in the middle of a picture, or went to a hairdresser and ruined her looks. But the canvas itself seldom walks out and gets married. Painters are lucky. And speaking of luck, I wonder if the bridegroom was ever so slightly pensive when he said he took her for better or worse, his tattooed lady.

A CANADIAN REPORTS FROM MOSCOW

With Bouquets for Soccer Players and Ballet for All

By GERALD CLARK

(Gerald Clark, staff writer with WEEK-END Picture Magazine, The Times Saturday magazine section, is the first Canadian newspaperman to receive a working visa to the Soviet Union since 1946. This series of daily dispatches from Moscow will be followed by other articles from Clark on the Soviet Union in early issues of WEEK-END.)

THE three great national obsessions here are chess, football and ballet. You can see people playing chess, hour on hour, in pavilions in the parks. They act like chess players anywhere else—studious and reserved.

But it's another story when it comes to the other two pastimes. I don't think hockey fans at home are any more rabid than Muscovite football fans. As for ballet, the teen-agers swarm about their stars the way bobby-soxers take to Perry Como.

exit. The station has five huge escalators. Before game time, four escalators go up only.

Outside, you're confronted by near-hysterical men and women who ask if maybe, by small miracle, you've a spare ticket. Some seats are allotted to factory workers as reward for higher production, others go to visiting delegations. But the bulk are put on open sale. The demand is so heavy that fans line up two days before a game.

Dynamo Stadium is a tremendous oval, with wooden bleachers and a few reserved sections for high government officials. Games are played only after working hours, and now that it gets dark early the field is illuminated by multifold batteries of lights. Once you're seated, and the excitement starts to build up, you imagine you're in an arena in Canada—until you catch a glimpse of the portraits of Stalin and Lenin towering high over the stands. Nearby flutters a banner with the words "Mir Miru"—peace to the world.

Sitting around you are working men, in rough clothes, and women with shawls covering their heads, and smartly turned out Red army officers. All around, too, is the characteristic odor that lingers from Soviet soap, a kind of boiled fat odor. Vendors walk down the aisles carrying trays and crying "morchonoye." If hot dogs aren't the vogue, at least ice cream bars are.

A whistle blows, the crowd roars. It's starting time. Tonight the Moscow Torpedoes are meeting a visiting team from Vienna. The Torpedoes are classed as amateurs, as, in theory, are all sportsmen in the Soviet Union. They work for the Stalin auto plant, but they're entitled to special bonuses and time off for practice. In the spring they go south, to train in the Crimea.

Now the teams troop onto the field, and the crowd applauds. Every member, from both sides, carries a bouquet of fresh flowers. He exchanges it with his opposite number. There's a speech of welcome and a mention of "peace" from the captain of the Soviet team; the Viennese captain replies, and the teams troop out. A minute later they're back and play begins. The Russians play a close, fast game. The Austrians, more in English style, play a wide-open game.

Every time there's a good move the crowd applauds or whistles its approval. If a Russian fumbles they shout "sapozhnik," which means "shoe-maker." No one throws paper or pop bottles on the field. That's considered hooliganism. When a goal is being threatened you can hear 90,000 throats sucking in breath en masse. At half time, the fans move down toward the dozens of stands that serve drinks and sandwiches. Dynamo Stadium is probably the only stadium in the world where you can buy champagne and a slab of bread with caviar.

The game ends in a 4-0 victory for the Russians and, in a way, the fans are disappointed. The Viennese had been highly touted, and they expected a better showing, but they announce general approval by prolonged applause.

Meanwhile, at a ballet theatre the applause is hardly less subdued. I've been to a couple of theatres so far, including the famous and grandiose Bolshoi. Though they may disagree with Russians on many matters, westerners here say flatly that Bolshoi Theatre ballet is the world's best. I saw a superb production of "Romeo and Juliet," with Galina Ulanova as the prima ballerina. Unlike the west, where only a portion of a ballet is presented, here it's done in its entirety.

There are 57 theatres in Moscow, offering everything from unadulterated Aida and Carmen to propaganda plays. Some of the theatres are easy to get into, but for the Bolshoi you have to book weeks in advance, unless you're a high official or a visitor with privileges. The theatre is immediately opposite my room, facing Sverdlov Square, and right now I can see a block-long line-up. Tickets range in price from six rubles ($1.50) to 34 rubles ($8.50).

At the Bolshoi, the audience is elite and fairly refined. But when you enter a lesser theatre you feel a different atmosphere. Between the acts, students rush down the aisles, scream and clap their hands madly, and hold their stars to several curtain calls. The nearest thing to a bobby-sox cult, they hover around stage doors and approach their ballet heroes with glazed eyes.

A campaign is now under way to end such practice. The newspaper Pravda recently frowned on it as "uncultured."

HOSPITAL INSURANCE

Mrs. Moscrop says Mr. Harding and all the other CCF members are in favor of exempting those on low incomes from the insurance premium. This is what I suggested myself but at the same time I realized that it would cost the government thousands of dollars and would mean higher premiums for those who paid.

Yet Mrs. Moscrop and Mr. Harding are complaining because the government has to pay hospital bills for a few poor people who are unable to pay. Not realizing that the amount of money involved is only like a drop in a bucket compared to what the government would have to pay if the CCF suggestion were adopted.

PICKED BY BENNETT

It must have been an awful shock to all who voted for Percy Wright to learn the Bennett axe had fallen. A new Pharaoh has arisen whom they do not even wish to know—Einar Gunderson, MPP for Victoria by kind permission of Premier W. A. C. Bennett. If your readers will only doze quietly and let Einar become MPP all will be well for the new-old firm of Wiggle and Wangle Social Credit, Inc.

If Victorians care for the reject of Oak Bay; if they like being bought and sold; if they think Bennett knows who should represent them better by far than they know themselves, they may like the amazing way the Sacreds fix everything so well on paper.

More booze is the answer. Perhaps a new version of BCHS may keep the electors guessing for a few years. It's all so jolly—don't you think? Think again. Soon Victorians can really surprise Premier Bennett by using their vote to

ANSWER TO A PRAYER

One should suppose that all those electors not under the evil influence of Sacred cataplexy would be anxious for the defeat of Gunderson in the Victoria by-election.

Then, why in the world are the Conservatives and the CCF horning in with candidates who haven't a ghost of a chance of being elected? If these people would have some brains, and stay their campaigns in favor of the Liberal aspirant, then Gunderson wouldn't have the ghost of a chance. Splitting the opposing vote is just what the Sacreds might call "an answer to their prayer."

So, folks, disregard all these splinters and make it a straight Sacred-Liberal contest. Vote Liberal and win.

NATURE UNSPOILED

Vancouver Parks Board have just turned down a proposal to build a large restaurant at Prospect Point. Every nature lover will agree that this is a wise decision. Surely the whole beauty and grandeur of this lovely spot in Stanley Park lies exactly in nature unspoiled by commercialism.

I understand that a similar project for our own small Beacon Hill Park is again being canvassed. Do we want our little park which is full of natural beauty turned into a Coney Island? Comparatively few of our tourists walk, they have their own cars or come in public conveyances. If they are hungry 10 minutes will take them back to all Victoria has to offer.

Are our park authorities going to indulge in their usual tree-cutting spree this winter? I have protested this matter again and again, but it was not until a Canon took it up that the matter received the least attention.

A whole large strip of turf has been turned into a remarkably ugly car park, with oiled surface. The concrete flower beds do not do much to hide this great and ugly scar.

Why not improve the stretch of sea-front from Cook to Moss Street? A few paths and some flowering trees which would stand the exposed position would make a lovely extension of our park at very little expense.

DENNIS THE MENACE

"THEY RAN AWAY FROM HOME, SO I TOLD 'EM THEY COULD LIVE WITH US!"

Mistress of Time

ON THE wall in my office is a picture of the complete Times news and editorial staff of 1934. I remember the day it was taken. The paper was celebrating an anniversary and we were all herded down to the shallow lawn behind the Crystal Garden, where Art Pollard lined us up and shot us.

Some of the people in that picture are gone now, gone where good newspaper folk go. Others have grown in importance. Some of us have just grown older.

In the middle of the picture, flanking B. C. Nicholas, are two women, the only two then on our staff—the late Mollie Whillans and the new Senator Nancy Hodges.

Of the two, Nancy alone had a desk in the office.

Since the news came over the wire yesterday morning, announcing the Senate appointment, I've kept looking at that picture and thinking of those days.

The office furniture was old and untidy, the newsroom floor was carpeted with six inches of discarded paper daily, and all the people who worked there expressed themselves, freely, loudly and vigorously on any subject from high statecraft to the bookie around the corner.

Through this man's world, Nancy Hodges moved with a serenity interrupted only by hurried minutes near her women's page deadline, when two phones jangled incessantly for her, when her typewriter chattered out sheets of copy and the city desk yelled for the obituaries she hadn't had time to turn in at that point.

Her particular job kept her as busy as a one-armed paper hanger. Yet she had time to acknowledge apologies from a correctly profane newspaperman who deferred to her hourly when his vocabulary exceeded his discretion.

AN EMPHATIC DAWN

She had time, too, to give the right answer when somebody yelled: "How do you spell 'Spinoza'?" She had time for a quick and emphatic "damn" when, reaching for a phone, she tore her smock sleeve another two inches on a typewriter lever, or when she snagged a silk stocking on the splintered leg of her desk. At one time she wondered if she was making enough from the Times to pay for the stockings she ruined working there.

She had time, too, to help a kid with the intricacies of a cultural lecture he had covered and found difficult to set down, on paper. And she had time for a kindly and encouraging word to the stream of girls and women who flowed a cluttered course to her corner desk seeking advice on a wedding, a party, a public meeting, a charity drive or a fashion show.

For a woman kept in high gear to fill her page by the required hour, she had time for an amazing number of worthwhile things. Somehow they didn't interfere with her duties as an efficient housewife and expert cook.

Nor did they stop her from taking part in the affairs of the community—helping an educational group here, lending aid to a club there, and spending evenings at home on a good book or newspapers from two continents.

Since she left her desk at the old office on Fort Street, she's been able to master time in a multitude of other duties, local, provincial and national.

She has allowed herself a little more leisure at home, but not much. Writing a column, attending, until recently, to the tasks of an MLA and speaking from here to London, Eng., aren't too restful.

SPARTAN TRAINING

Maybe the rigorous training of hectic days at the old Times helped to condition her for the heavy demands public life has made on her. Maybe her ability to find recreation in her Runnymede Ave. garden, where she works in navy blue slacks considerably less dignified than Madam Speaker's robes, has been a sustaining factor.

Whatever the ingredients of her success, she has combined abilities of a high order with an uncommon mastery of the minutes in the hour and the hours in the day—which is probably a lesson in discipline and work habits that a lot of us could copy to advantage.

Shortness of Breath

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Executive Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

People write asking why they are short of breath. I cannot even guess because there are so many causes for this form of distress. In some cases the diagnosis is very difficult, even when the doctor can talk to the patient and examine him carefully.

Shortness of breath suggests that the body cells and particularly the cells in a little breathing centre up in the brain are not getting enough oxygen. When they call desperately for more air, the person breathes faster or more deeply, and his heart tends to beat faster, so as to pump the blood more rapidly.

Obviously, the trouble may begin in any one of several parts of the body. For instance, if something goes wrong with the lungs so that the blood that goes through them cannot be properly aerated, the person will soon be short of breath. There may be spasm in the bronchi such as one sees in some cases of asthma, or there may be emphysema, which is a breaking down of the little air sacs in the lung and often a loss of the elasticity of the lung. There may be a tumor blocking a bronchus; or much of the lung may have been destroyed by tuberculosis, or a pneumonia may have put out of business a lobe or two of the lungs.

There may be a loss of strength in the muscles of respiration, such as one sees in some cases of polio. There may be a big accumulation of fluid in one or both sides of the chest, fluid which compresses the lung and gives it much less space in which to work. An old quartz miner who has lived in dust all his life may become short of breath because of the accumulation of rock dust in his lungs.

MANY AGED AFFECTED

In many cases, of course, shortness of breath is due to getting fat or flabby or old. An aging person will notice that he hasn't the wind that he used to have. Sometimes it is because the blood pressure has been going up. In bad cases of heart disease there can be distressing shortness of breath due to the inability of the heart to pump the blood around fast enough. In the worst cases the patient has to sit up in bed because only while he is sitting can the heart work well enough to keep him fairly comfortable. Things can go wrong, also, with the blood. There may not be enough of the hemoglobin which carries the oxygen, from the lungs to the tissues and there gives it up. Certain changes which sometimes take place in the chemistry of the blood may cause the person to get very short of breath.

In rare cases the main difficulty may be a toxic goiter which increases the demands that the body cells make for oxygen. This difficulty, together with the defect in heart action which often goes with a very toxic goiter, can bring on some shortness of breath. Changes in the carrying power of the blood for oxygen and carbon dioxide can occur in bad cases of diabetes or nephritis.

Finally, there is a type of air hunger, usually short-lasting, which is purely nervous in origin. It is seen in nervous and overly sensitive or excitable women, who will get up and rush to a window because there they think they will get an air richer in oxygen. Rarely, one will see a hysterical person who will start panting so rapidly that soon he is almost unconscious. Usually in a few minutes he will come out of the spell. Finally, one can get short of breath after a heavy dinner, partly because the distended stomach has pushed up into the chest, and partly because the digestion of a meal adds much to the work of the heart.

CORTISONE REACTION

According to Dr. Paul A. O'Leary and Dr. John G. Erickson of the Mayo Clinic, who recently summarized their experience with cortisone in the clinic department of skin diseases, unfavorable results from the action of cortisone may come months after the taking of the drug is stopped, and they can be of serious nature. The patients vary greatly in their tolerance of the two drugs.

The doctors list as contraindications to the use of cortisone or corticotropin, high blood pressure, Bright's disease, a tendency to mental disturbance, duodenal ulcer, and tuberculosis. These diseases can be made to flare up.

Recently there was some excitement because two dermatologists reported that in some cases of baldness cortisone would make the hair grow. O'Leary and Erickson admit that this can happen, but they say that the new hair usually soon falls out again.

The skin specialist is most grateful for cortisone in many cases of lupus erythematosus. This, fortunately, is a rather uncommon disease because in its acute forms it can be dangerous to life. In such acute flare-ups cortisone will frequently produce a remission of symptoms, and this may last for several years.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

VICTORIA'S SUNSHINE RECORD TO DATE, 1953—1,841.5 HOURS

SYNOPSIS—Pacific storms have gradually moved to a more southern track with the result that a disturbance entering Washington overnight left the northern B.C. coast clear. However, some showers reached across the border into the southern coast and will move through the southern interior today. Another system following much the same path is expected to maintain unsettled conditions over the southern part of the province Saturday. Colder air gathering east of the Rockies will penetrate partly the central and eastern interior during the next two days.

Alcoholism Claim by Soldier Charged With Murdering Pal

BRANDON (CP)—Whether a man is capable of forming intent while under the influence of alcohol loomed Thursday as the deciding factor in the murder trial of a Camp Shilo, Man., soldier.

In their addresses to the jury, defense and crown counsels stressed this point, as the trial of Pte. Reginald John Finn neared a close.

In a surprise move, defense council Harry Walsh of Winnipeg earlier Thursday put Finn on the stand to testify in his own defense and backed part of the testimony with the words of the Roman Catholic chaplain at the camp, 25 miles east of Brandon.

Finn described the drinking bout which led up to the fatal early-morning scuffle during which L-Cpl. William Nelson Smith was fatally stabbed in his left side. Finn claimed he remembered nothing after passing out on a bed about 5 a.m.

The claim was backed by Capt. J. S. McGivern, Roman Catholic chaplain, who saw him after the stabbing and offered help.

"He looked at me in a dazed way," the chaplain said. "His only answer was a roll of his head, giving me the impression he did not understand me. My conclusion is he did not know what he was doing."

There was a total of 22 witnesses during the trial.

HABITUAL CRIMINAL

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask. (CP)—Bertin Albert Tully Thursday was convicted on a habitual criminal charge and sentenced to an indeterminate term in Prince Albert penitentiary.

The habitual criminal conviction, rarely imposed in Canadian courts, came after Tully was found guilty of stealing an electric grill valued at $91. Sentence was passed in court of Queen's bench.

Police officers who testified at the trial, including two retired inspectors from Vancouver said Tully had a record dating back to 1932. Convictions were registered on charges of breaking and entering, theft, forgery, illegal possession of narcotics and living off the avails of prostitution.

THEFT TRIAL TO OPEN

BRANDON (CP)—The trial of an army officer charged with the theft of $30,000 worth of brass from the Canadian Army at Camp Shilo, Man., will start here Monday.

Capt. Martin Franklin Smith, formerly ordnance officer at Shilo, was charged last July with the theft of 151,514 pounds of shell casings during a period between Nov. 17, 1950, and Aug. 31, 1952.

Samuel Breen of Winnipeg was appointed defense counsel by the Crown Tuesday after Smith said he was unable to get anyone to defend him. Smith was arrested at his home in Calgary by the RCMP.

OPEN NATURAL GAS LINE

EDMONTON (CP)—Natural gas from an 11-mile gathering system has been turned on at the $19,000,000 Sherritt-Gordon nickel refinery at Fort Saskatchewan, 18 miles east of here.

The main valve of the supply system was opened Wednesday. Work on the refinery has not yet been completed but workers are closing in the plant so work can be carried on throughout the winter.

Natural gas which will feed the huge refinery furnaces is supplied by Mid-Western Gas

Co. from 11 wells in the immediate area of the refinery. The company has a 20-year contract with Sherritt-Gordon.

PEACE RIVER GAS FIELDS EXTENDED

Known natural gas reserves of British Columbia's Peace River Block climbed upward today when an important gas find moved the Peace River field boundary two miles eastward. Simultaneously announced was made of a new gas field 12 miles south of Peace River which may be the discovery well of a new gas field in the Alberta part of the Peace River district.

Pacific Pete Gets New Gassers

Pacific Petroleum Ltd. has important financial interests in two wells. The new gas field in the Alberta part of the Peace River district.

FOR WESTCOAST LINE

Major importance of the discovery lies in the additional assurance of adequate natural gas for Westcoast Transmission Co. Ltd.'s proposed Peace River-Vancouver-U.S. pipeline.

Westcoast's $12,000,000 project currently awaits U.S. Federal Power Commission's approval of its proposed southward extension from Vancouver into Pacific Northwest centres.

Eastward extension of Peace River gas field was made by Pacific Petroleum Ltd. and Royalty Oil Company's joint venture, Pacific Royalty Discovery.

Coupe No. 1 well. Approximately 50 feet of gas zone was found in the top of the Cadotte sand beginning at the 2,285-foot level. Best gas flow, 2,745,000 cubic feet per day, was obtained in the 2,285-2,295-foot zone. Flows of 1,570,000, 2,063,000, 1,148,000, and 1,485,000 were obtained in tests down to the 2,319-foot level.

An additional eastward extension will be attempted by Pacific Petroleum and Canadian Atlantic Oil Co. Ltd.'s Pacific Atlantic Oil Co. Ltd. well, to be drilled one mile east of the Pacific-Royalty discovery.

NEW FIELD TAPPED

The new gas field in the Alberta sector of the Peace River was tapped by a Canadian Northern Oil & Gas Ltd.-Pacific Petroleum Exploratory well. Three productive zones have been found in their Canadian Northern-Pacific South Coupe No. 1 well situated 12 miles south of the Peace River field and just over the B.C.-Alberta border.

Large gas flows were obtained in 10 successive drillstem tests in the Cadotte sand and gas flows in two tests at the top of the 3,263-78 foot level. Three other tests farther down produced flows exceeding 2,500,000 cubic feet per day.

Tenth Producer For New Superior

Latest completion in the West Drumbeller oilfield by the New Superior Group is Superior oil at Drumbeller No. 235. The new well went on steady production on November 1 with indicated initial potential of 797 bbls. daily on 7 1/4-hour test through 1-inch choke.

The well is the 10th to be placed on production on lands acquired in November, 1952 from the Drumbeller Syndicate. The 11th and final well, Superior oil at Drumbeller No. 8-36 was spudded November 3.

Interest in this project is held 27 1/2 per cent each by New Superior Oil and General Petroleum, 15 per cent by Alfox Oils, and 10 per cent each by Renfrew Oils, Carleton and Bata.

Red Cross Challenges Victoria To Aid With Gamma Globulin

The Red Cross has stepped into the fight against polio and will take a leading part in the building up of stores of badly-needed gamma globulin, it was announced today by M. L. Fitzgerald.

Chairman of the blood transfusion committee of the local branch of the organization, Mr. Fitzgerald issued an appeal for 25 per cent increase in blood donors—3,000 more volunteers this year than last.

Gamma globulin, a blood derivative, is the best-known means of minimizing the effects of polio. Medical authorities believe that the strain in polio in Canada may differ from the strain elsewhere, hence need Canadian blood. It will gradually build some degree of immunity against the polio virus, they hope.

Mr. Fitzgerald explained that the federal department of national health called on the Red Cross to produce 150,000 extra blood donors during the next year and at the same time maintain present services. At present the Red Cross collects whole blood and plasma necessary for hospitals throughout Canada.

The head of the local blood service warned Victorians that the Red Cross would not be responsible for distribution of the gamma globulin.

"Distribution rests entirely with the federal department of national health and welfare," he said.

"But it can't be given out unless we can first collect the extra blood. That is up to the people of Victoria. We need new donors at the clinic at Red Cross House next Thursday and Friday, and at every future clinic."

In spite of the heavy toll chalked up by polio in Victoria this year, 94 cases with five deaths, only a thin trickle of the gamma globulin has reached the city. So great is the shortage that only expectant mothers and children under 16 who have been in contact with the disease may have the precious serum.

'Old Guard' Challenged In Esquimalt

A lively election race is shaping in Esquimalt today with the admission by president of the Ratepayers' Association, Ralph Meakes, that his group will search for "new blood" for municipal council seats.

Meanwhile two councillors whose terms are up in December have indicated they will run again, and a third says he likely will retire for health reasons. A two-way fight for the position of reeve was hinted earlier with the announcement that Andrew Whisker, former MLA, would oppose present Reeve A. C. Wurtele.

Completing two-year terms in December are Cllrs. G. F. Argyle, G. R. Guillemaud and W. H. Dallaway. Cllr. Dallaway said today that he will not likely stand for re-election as he is recovering at present from illness brought on by over-work. Cllrs. Argyle and Guillemaud will both seek re-election.

The Ratepayers' Association has approached two undisclosed possible candidates, and Mr. Meakes says he has been asked and will consider accepting nomination himself.

Unsuccessful candidate in the last election, Mrs. Anne Smith, who lost out by less than 20 votes in 1952, stated today she definitely will not accept nomination this year.

It is understood that John Daley, 439 Constance, a diver, may be put forward as a candidate.

Nominating day is December 3.

U.S. B-29 SINKS INTO TARMAC AFTER LANDING AT PR. GEORGE

PRINCE GEORGE (BUP)—A U.S. Air Force B-29 made an emergency landing Thursday and promptly sank in the Tarmac.

The Superfortress, largest plane ever to land here, sank about one foot below the surface before timbers and jacks were rushed into place to stop the bomber's vanishing act. The plane was on a non-stop circle flight from its base at Hamilton Field, Calif. The plane was forced to land when one engine failed and another was about to conk out.

Massey Will Wait Outside When Ike Speaks to House

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Queen's representative in Canada will be on the outside looking in when President Eisenhower addresses parliament Nov. 14.

Mr. Eisenhower is slated to speak to a joint session of the Commons and Senate. Governor-General Vincent Massey will be barred from the chamber even though parliament, as a whole, is technically the crown, the Senate and the House of Commons.

Mr. Massey will be the official host for the two-day state visit of President and Mrs. Eisenhower, but he will either stay at Government House or have to stand in the hall or wait in a back room of the Parliament Buildings while the U.S. President is in the Commons chamber.

For 311 years, British monarchs have been barred from the United Kingdom House of Commons, and the tradition is carried on by Canada in respect of the Queen's representative here.

Her blue eyes sparkling, Mrs. Jowett said she believed she was born in 1849, but that her birth was not registered until four years later in her native town of Bradford, Yorkshire, England.

In 1880 Mrs. Jowett, whose husband had died a year earlier, set out for Canada and set up a confectionery business in Vancouver. Seven years later she purchased a hotel at Trout Lake in interior B.C. remaining there for 36 years. While operating the hotel she staked several gold and silver claims.

SONNY JONES NEEDS SEDATIVES AS HANGING DATE APPROACHES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Nightly sedatives are being administered to condemned murderer Sonny Jones in his Oakalla Prison Farm death cell, authorities said Thursday. Warden Hugh Christie said the sedation was necessary to allow both Jones and some 70 other prisoners in the same wing of the provincial jail to get to sleep. He described Jones as one of the most difficult prisoners he had ever encountered.

Jones is scheduled to be hanged Tuesday for the hammer slaying of Mrs. Los Angeles Smith early this year.

Habs Edge Blues

Richard Gets Winner; Bruins Trip Chihawks

Montreal 4, New York 3
Boston 4, Chicago 2

Like many a good man before him, Johnny Bower is learning that life in the New York nets is a goal-tender's nightmare.

The Rangers, on their good nights, can scare the daylight out of more powerful National Hockey League opponents. Fast, breaking opportunists, they like to strike for goals while the other team is still concentrating on an offensive of its own.

When it works, it's wonderful strategy. But whether it works or not, it's hard on your goal-keeper.

When the Rangers dropped a 4-3 verdict to Montreal Canadiens Thursday night, it left Bower with 38 goals scored against him in 11 starts, the heaviest yield in the NHL. Yet he stopped 40 shots in Montreal while the Canadiens' Gerry McNeil kicked out only 19.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard carried the winning goal—No. 7 of the season—off Bower's chest after Ken Mosell and Bernie Geoffrion had tied the score.

Geoffrion also scored the first Montreal goal in the opening period.

Ivy Bulver, Wally Hergeshelmer and Max Bentley were the Ranger marksmen.

HAWKS BEATEN
The defeat left the Rangers in a fifth-place tie with Chicago Black Hawks, who lost their second game in as many nights as Boston Bruins defeated them 4-2.

Eddie Sandford, top scorer of last year's Stanley Cup playoffs, found his shooting eye for the first time this season as he tallied twice for the winners after nine games without a goal.

Real Chevrefils and Joe Klukay also counted for Boston while Jim Peters and Bill Gadsby accounted for the Chicago goals.

SCHMIDT HURT
Boston's victory Thursday night cost them the services of Milt Schmidt, their veteran captain and spark-plug. The 35-year-old centre retired with a strained knee ligament in the first period.

TOO MANY BIRDIES, NOT ENOUGH BASEBALL

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"There aren't four better managers in baseball than Jimmy Dykes." Who says so? Not Dykes himself, nor his wife nor any of his kinfolk. The tribute comes from the man who just fired Dykes as manager of Philadelphia Athletics, Roy Mack.

The obvious question then is why was Dykes fired and shortstop Eddie Joost named in his place.

The answer, as gathered from a luncheon chat with Roy Mack, executive vice-president of the A's, is that Dykes spent too much time following the wrong kind of ball. Dykes, it seems, was so devoted to golf he slighted Philadelphia Athletics.

CUP GAME WEDNESDAY

Rep Ruggers In Final Test

Coaches Dick Ellis and John Poole will put their candidates for the Crimson Tide rep rugby side to the acid test Saturday before they choose their final line-up.

A week of strenuous workouts will be culminated Saturday in a test match at 2:30.

All players who have attended workouts this week will be given the chance to show their stuff in the exhibition match and it is likely that the coaching staff will choose the Tide's starting line-up from this game.

UBC COMING

Tide is scheduled to meet a University of British Columbia side here Wednesday in the first rep match of the season for the McKechnie Cup. The UBC club is defending champion.

The test match will be the only rugby game scheduled over the week-end, league games having been suspended for the week-end.

Following Thursday's workout, Ellis and Poole released the following line-ups for the test match:

Football Fever At Year's Peak

Secret practices, skull sessions and hush-hush strategy conferences were the keynotes this week in Eastern and Western Canada football cities.

NO POSSUM

Vessels Definitely Out for Eks
EDMONTON, Alta. (BUP)—Coach Darrell Royal said last night speedy Edmonton Eskimo halfback Billy Vessels definitely will not see action in Saturday's opening game against the Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the best-of-three Western Interprovincial Football Union finals.

"All hope is gone that Billy can play on Saturday," Royal said, "and it's doubtful if he will ever play again this season."

Vessels was injured two weeks ago in a game against the Bombers which the Eskimos dropped 18-7. He recovered from his spine muscle fracture enough to be released from hospital last Monday.

Since then he has been attending Eskimo workouts, but has returned to hospital daily for special treatment.

"The suggestion that we're playing possum with Billy and he'll be in our line-up Saturday is ridiculous," Royal said.

The Eskimos also may open the series without the services of all-star fullback Normie (China Clipper) Kwong, who was nursing an injured ankle yesterday.

"Other than this," Royal said, "the boys are all hale and hearty and we'll be ready for the Bombers."

Scots-United Match Postponed
Victoria United will not see action in the Coast Soccer League this week-end, coach Wally Milligan has announced.

United was previously scheduled to meet St. Andrews at Vancouver Saturday, but the game has been postponed.

Expansion of Majors Remains Major Topic

NEW YORK (AP)—The rising clamor over a plan to bring major league baseball to the United States West Coast—and which incidentally would take in two Canadian cities—has reached a fever pitch. Club owners are wondering just how they will approach the problem at the end of the month and the major league sessions in December.

Until International League president Frank Shaughnessy recently presented his plan for two 12-team leagues, the moguls were in a dither. They wanted to expand, but they didn't know just how to do it. Shag's plan would take in at least a couple of West Coast cities. The first four finishers in each section would play off to meet in the world series.

This, of course, is what most of the minors have been doing since 1932 when Shaughnessy introduced his "Shaughnessy playoffs." It kept interest alive even when one team ran away with the pennant, because in the playoffs any of the first four clubs could win.

"It would give the majors a sensible program for expansion," said Shaughnessy, "instead of the present uncertain, panicky grabbing of minor league territory. At the same time it would stabilize the minor leagues."

When and if the leagues are expanded, four cities seem virtually certain of being included—Los Angeles, San Francisco, Montreal and Toronto.

Wenatchee Chiefs are almost in the same boat. Only a late move by a citizens' committee to take over the franchise can save the team.

Although Eugene, Ore. and Tacoma are reported interested in franchises, it is thought unlikely that league directors will approve a 10-team league if Yakima and Wenatchee withdraw. Spokane is also a question mark, but the Indians' withdrawal appears unlikely.

Majority of clubs favor a later starting date, probably the first week in May, with a Shaughnessy playoff to follow the regular season which would close on or about Labor Day. Under the Shaughnessy plan, four teams would engage in the post-season series.

On the local front, general manager Reg Patterson has announced that he is interested in purchasing several of the Yakima club, notably first baseman Len Noren. All Yakima-owned players have been put up for sale.

"That would give us a big start," said Patterson.

Manager Cec Garriott has not yet been signed for 1954, and at this stage of the year there is always the possibility that a change is contemplated. Patterson declined to comment on this aspect.

However, it is known that Ducky Medwick, former St. Louis Card outfielder, has previously expressed a desire to come here.

Other business at the meeting will include election of officers and appointment of a publicity director.

Jones Paces McMorran's

Doug Jones scored 15 points as McMorran's defeated Brentwood 59-14, in a Saanich and Suburban Basketball League juvenile boys' contest at Lake Hill gym Thursday night.

Ralph Spraggatt added 11 points and Bill Oldham hit for nine for the winners. Vic Lindell paced the losers with six points.

ON THE OUTDOOR FRONT

With ROY THORSEN

Around 1,800 pounds of turkey and a number of hams will be the loot scattergun marksmen will be gunning for when the mammoth annual Christmas turkey shoot of the Victoria Gun Club is held on the Albert Head Road grounds Dec. 13.

"It's going to be the biggest Christmas shoot we've ever planned," said president George Farmer. He said there will be at least 150 good-sized birds on the prize ladder in the giant public Yuletide classic. It is a show that attracts hundreds of shooters and non-shooters rain, snow, hail or shine. Program is an all-day affair that closes when dusk sets in.

Thorsen

However, South Vancouver Island Rangers are also looming large in the Yule turkey shoot picture. Gordon Sword says the wartime unit formed into a civilian club will hold a big public shoot at its Luxton club grounds (off Happy Valley Road), Nov. 29. This will be followed by a turkey shoot on the same grounds, exclusive to Rangers, on Dec. 6.

Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association will shortly be back in the outdoors picture following a hunting season lull of inactivity. George "Red" Laird, president, reports that a meeting will be called shortly to organize plans for the annual meeting. He said that reports the club is petering out "are without foundation." "We are very much alive," he said.

Hen pheasants will be legal targets in Central and North Saanich districts starting Saturday (tomorrow) morning. Those are the only areas where hens will become legal prey to hunters until Nov. 22. Some people have impression that the island trout season closes the middle of this month. "That is incorrect due to a misprint in the fishing regulations" synopsis. The season does not end until Nov. 30," Bill Johnston reports.

Victorians who have invaded Alberta for pheasants and ducks this year have come back with glowing accounts about the duck-geese offerings. "Never seen so many in all the years of my hunting career," said Charlie Dale. Among other Victorians who did well were: Pat Dunn and Cec Rawlings, the team of Bill Johnston and Howard Damasko (secretary Victoria Gun Club); Cec Fletcher, Arthur Pitts and Dr. Fraser; Johnny Wenger and Russell B. Ker and Vic Sutherland.

Saanich Inlet fishing fell off badly the last few days, but is expected to pick up again momentarily. Offering is good-sized grise taken either on bucktail fly, abalone or Tom Mack spoons and the old reliable spinner and worm. . . Mrs. Elsie Polier, Box 2311 Sooke Road, bagged a 1,000-pound moose and five grouse on a recent Cariboo trip. In one week of hunting Mr. and Mrs. Polier and a friend downed two moose, one deer, five geese and 21 grouse. Total weight of meat was over one ton.

Shooting in Kamloops area was fruitful for a Victoria trio. They were Tommy Moss, assistant Saanich fire chief; navy's Bill Buchanan and his brother, Keith. Their score: Three moose deer, limits of pheasants and grouse over nine days. . . Claude Creed, Brentwood Bay, reports Charlie Kay scored six grise; Tom Bridges, 10; Mr. and Mrs. George Paul (Alberta), four coho and 10 grise; Bob Hamilton, one coho, four grise; Dave Grey and Stan Williams, grise limits.

Roger Monteith rates Cowichan Flats as the best bet for ducks these days. Jack Harris reports the headwaters of Cowichan River producing nice trout. They are being caught on red hackle fly or a facsimile of a salmon egg. . . Annual spawning run of salmon now in full force in Goldstream and Cowichan River. . . Blue grouse season is over; a few hunters getting willow grouse.

MEET BAYS SATURDAY

Sailors Point for Undeclared Season

Navy and Oak Bay Whiteheads, who fought to a 6-6 standoff in their last Victoria Junior Canadian Football League meeting, will resume their arguments Saturday at 2 at Heywood Avenue Park.

For Navy, the game presents the opportunity of completing an undefeated season.

For Oak Bay, it is an outside chance of avoiding a cellar finish. Should Oak Bay win and Royal Roads beat Vampires Wednesday, Vamps and Bays would be tied for third place, necessitating the toss of a coin to separate them.

Playoffs are scheduled to begin a week Saturday with the first and fourth-place teams meeting in one sudden-death semi-final and the second and third-place clubs tangling in the other bracket.

Navy coach Bert Nelson has stated that his club will go all out for this game, although injuries to key players may have hurt his team.

Whiteheads, because of injuries, may be able to field only a 20-man squad, six under the game limit.

The sailors will likely be without blocking backs Ray Hobbs and Dave McKenzie, both nursing bad knees; second-string quarterback Joe Ormestey and line-man, Dobson. Fullback Dave Burck's effectiveness may be hampered by a chronic knee injury.

Overtime Possible In WIFU Series

EDMONTON (CP)—Overtime will be played if one of the games in the best-of-three Western Inter-provincial Football Union finals is tied at the end of the regulation 60 minutes.

Ken Montgomery, president of Edmonton Eskimos, who meet Winnipeg Blue Bombers in the finals opening here Saturday night, said the overtime period will follow the pattern laid down in the Canadian Rugby Union rule book.

There will be two 10-minute halves with the clubs starting scoreless as if beginning a new game. If, at the end of the 20-minute overtime, the clubs are still tied, an extra game probably will be ordered, Montgomery said.

SAN MATEO, Calif. (CP)—Wandering Ways, ridden by Johnny Longden and owned by Alberta Ranches of Calgary, closed with a rush Thursday to nose out Dina Bam in the featured Cinderella Handicap at Bay Meadows.

Louis Gives Walls Blessing

TORONTO (BUP)—Joe Louis was in town today to investigate the possibilities of a Rocky Marciano-Earl Walls heavyweight fight here for International Boxing Club president James Norris.

"I think an international fight between Marciano and the Canadian would do better business in Canada," Louis said as he relaxed in his hotel room.

The ex-champ suggested the fight should be fought outdoors at either Exhibition Grounds or Maple Leaf Stadium.

In rating the heavies behind Rocky, Louis said:

"There are no good heavyweights around and ratings don't mean too much. I wish they'd put in that rule over here that they have in Britain where the champion has to meet 'the No. 1 contender. Then ratings would mean something."

"I guess you'd have to put Dan Bucceroni up here. You can't rate Ezzard Charles. Cooley Wallace is a corner but Walls, he's right up there. After all, Layne ranked fourth about a year ago."

Louis said Marciano was "a good puncher." Joe was knocked out by Marciano in his last fight in New York in 1951.

"There's no sense talking about that," he said. "I have no excuses. The commission doctor passed my hand okay. I was ready to fight. I did one thing wrong—that day. I should have gone fishing."

Louis came here as a result of discussions which began with fight promoter Frank Tunney several weeks ago.

REESE NOT INTERESTED

Dodgers Not Ready To Name New Pilot

By BEN PHLEGAR

BROOKLYN (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers hung a "vacancy" sign on the manager's door at Ebbets Field today and claimed they have no one under serious consideration for the top National Baseball League piloting job.

Pee Wee Reese, the Dodgers' star shortstop and captain who figured as the No. 1 candidate, made up his mind Thursday night that he isn't interested.

"Maybe I have made a mistake—I will know that in a couple of years," Pee Wee said at his home in Louisville, Ky. Ever since they failed to come to terms with Charley Dressen in October, the Dodgers had let it be known—without saying anything official—that Reese would have a chance to say "yes" or "no" before they went shopping elsewhere.

Buzzy Bavasi, Dodger vice-president, said it will be some time before a manager is hired, definitely not within the next two weeks.

Among those mentioned have been Bucky Harris of Washington Senators; Jimmy Dykes, just fired by Philadelphia Athletics; Lefty O'Doul, now manager at San Diego; and Clay Hopper and Walt Alston, two men who have enjoyed great success as minor league managers for the Dodger farm system.

Yalta Talks Preceded By Bitter Contention

Roosevelt Warned Not to Allow Reds Too Far in Western Europe

(This is another installment of Volume VI of the war memoirs of Winston Churchill, Britain's Prime Minister. Other installments will be carried daily.)

By WINSTON S. CHURCHILL

On the eve of the impending Triple Conference the political situation, at any rate in eastern Europe, was by no means satisfactory. A precarious tranquillity had indeed been achieved in Greece, and it seemed that a free democratic government, founded on universal suffrage and secret ballot, might be established there within a reasonable time. But Roumania and Bulgaria had passed into the grip of Soviet military occupation, Hungary and Yugoslavia lay in the shadow of the battlefield, and Poland, though liberated from the Germans, had merely exchanged one conqueror for another. The informal and temporary arrangement which I had made with Stalin during my October visit to Moscow could not, and so far as I was concerned was never intended to, govern or affect the future of these wide regions once Germany was defeated.

The whole shape and structure of post-war Europe called for review. When the Nazis were beaten how was Germany to be treated? What aid could we expect from the Soviet Union in the final overthrow of Japan? And once these military aims were achieved what measures and what organization could the three great Allies provide for the future peace and good government of the world? The discussions at Dumbarton Oaks had ended in partial disagreement. So, in a smaller but no less vital sphere, had the negotiations between the Soviet-sponsored "Lublin Poles" and their compatriots from London which Mr. Eden and I had with much difficulty promoted during our visit to the Kremlin in October, 1944. An arid correspondence between the President and Stalin, of which Mr. Roosevelt had kept me informed, had accompanied the secession of M. Mikolajczyk from his colleagues in London while on January 5, contrary to the wishes of both the United States and Great Britain, the Soviets had recognized the Lublin Committee as the Provisional Government of Poland.

Stalin Starts Drive Against London Poles

The President had already told me about his exchanges with Stalin. They were as follows:

Marshal Stalin to President Roosevelt

27 Dec. 1944.

"... A number of facts which took place during the time after the last visit of Mikolajczyk to Moscow, and in particular the radio communications with Mikolajczyk's Government intercepted by us from terrorists arrested in Poland—under ground agents of the Polish emigre Government—with all palpability prove that the negotiation of M. Mikolajczyk with the Polish National Committee served as a screen for those elements who conducted from behind Mikolajczyk's back criminal terrorist work against Soviet officers and soldiers on the territory of Poland. We cannot reconcile with such a situation when terrorists instigated by Polish emigrants kill in Poland

Red Army, is fighting against the Germans.

"I have to say frankly that if the Polish Committee of National Liberation will transform itself into a Provisional Polish Government, then, in view of the above-said, the Soviet Government will not have any serious ground for postponement of the question of its recognition. . . .

"On the other hand, under the conditions which exist in Poland at the present time there are no reasons for the continuation of the policy of support of the emigre government, which has lost all confidence of the Polish population in the country, and besides creates a threat of civil war in the rear of the Red Army, violating thus our common interests of a successful fight against the Germans. . . .

Mr. Roosevelt's reply was reported in a message to myself.

President Roosevelt to Prime Minister

30 Dec. 1944.

"I have today sent the following to Stalin. You will see that we are in step.

Deeply Disappointed Roosevelt Declares

"I am disturbed and deeply disappointed over your message of December 27 in regard to Poland, in which you tell me that you cannot see your way clear to hold in abeyance the question of recognizing the Lublin Committee as the Provisional Government of Poland until we have had an opportunity at our meeting to discuss the whole question thoroughly. I would have thought no serious inconvenience would have been caused your government or your armies if you could have delayed the purely juridical act of recognition for the short period of a month remaining before we meet.

"There was no suggestion in my request that you curtail your practical relations with the Lublin Committee, nor any thought that you should deal with or accept the London Government in its present composition. I had urged this delay upon you because I felt you would realize how extremely unfortunate and even serious it would be at this period in the war in its effect on world opinion and enemy morale if your government should formally recognize one government of Poland while the majority of the other United Nations, including the United States and Great Britain, continue to recognize and to maintain diplomatic relations with the Polish government in London.

U.S. Not Likely To Move Allegiance

"I must tell you with a frankness equal to your own that I see no prospect of this government's following suit and transferring its recognition from the government in London to the Lublin Committee in its present form. This is in no sense due to any special ties or feelings for the London (Polish) government. The fact is that neither the government nor the people of the United States have as yet seen any evidence either arising from the manner of its creation or from subsequent developments to justify the conclusion that the Lublin Committee as at present constituted represents the people of Poland. I cannot ignore the fact that up to the present only a small fraction of the Curzon Line has been liberated from German tyranny; and it is therefore an unquestioned truth that the people of Poland have had no opportunity to express themselves in regard to the Lublin Committee. . . .

"I fully share your view that the departure of M. Mikolajczyk from the government in London has worsened the situation. I have always felt that M. Mikolajczyk, who, I am convinced, is sincerely desirous of settling all points at issue between the Soviet Union and Poland, is the only Polish leader in sight who seems to offer the possibility of a genuine solution of the difficult and dangerous Polish question. . . .

Stalin had answered: Marshal Stalin to President Roosevelt

1 Jan. 1945.

"I have received your message of December 30.

"I naturally fully comprehend your suggestion that the Soviet government's recognition of the provisional government of Poland should be postponed for a month. There is however a circumstance here which makes it impossible for me to fulfill your wish. The position is that as early as December 27 the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the U.S.S.R. informed the Poles in reply to an inquiry on the subject that it proposed to recognize the provisional government of Poland as soon as the latter was formed. . . .

The President was fully convinced of the need for another meeting of "the Three" for which arrangements had been discussed for some time. The usual debate about meeting places had followed. "If Stalin cannot manage to meet us in the Mediterranean," the President said, "I am prepared to come to the Crimea and have the meeting at Yalta, which appears to be the best place available in the Black Sea, having the best accommodations ashore and the most promising flying conditions. My party will equal that of Teheran—about 35. I still hope the military situation will permit Marshal Stalin to meet us half-way."

Greek Mythology Recalled for Name

On the 30th Mr. Roosevelt cabled that he would leave the United States as soon as possible after his presidential inauguration, and would travel by warship to the Mediterranean, and from there by air to Yalta. I agreed at once to this, and promised to send a passenger ship to Sebastopol to supplement our quarters on shore. I myself proposed to fly direct via Caserta. On December 31 I cabled: "Have you a name for this operation? If not I suggest 'Argonaut,' which has a local but not deducible association." (Editor's Note: In Greek mythology the Argonauts were a band of heroes who set out with Jason in quest of the Golden Fleece and journeyed to Colchis on the Black Sea.)

The President's circle however produced an alternative to flying from Caserta. His advisers, medical and otherwise, considered it inadvisable for him to fly at high altitudes over the mountains between Italy and Yalta. Admiral Hewitt recommended going by sea to Malta and flying on thence. I liked this.

Prime Minister to President Roosevelt

1 Jan. 1945.

"We shall be delighted if you will come to Malta. I shall be waiting on the quay. You will also see the inscription of your noble message to Malta of a year ago. Everything can be arranged to your convenience. No more let us falter! From Malta to Yalta! Let nobody alter!"

I elaborated this for private use: No more let us alter or falter or palter. From Malta to Yalta, and Yalta to Malta. Perhaps it was well—I did not cable it.

President Roosevelt to Prime Minister

2 Jan. 1945.

"We plan to arrive by ship at Malta early forenoon February

2, and hope to proceed at once by plane without faltering. (author's italics). It will be grand to meet you on the quay. "Your suggestion of 'Argonaut' is welcomed. You and I are direct descendants." Lord Halifax reported from Washington that he had seen the President on the day before and did not think he "looked too good." Mr. Roosevelt however told him he was very well and looking forward to our meeting.

The President did not at first think it possible for us to have a preliminary conference at (Continued on Page 11)

Malta. He said that with favorable weather at sea he could arrive there by February 2, and would have to go on by air the same day in order to keep our date with Stalin. "I regret," he cabled, "that in view of the time available, to me for this journey it will not be possible for us to meet your suggestion and have a British-American staff meeting at Malta before proceeding to 'Argonaut.' I do not think that by not having a meeting at Malta any time will be lost at Yalta. I am envious of your visits to the great battle-front, which are denied to me by distance." Nevertheless I pressed my proposal.

It seemed consonant with this idea of a preliminary military conference that there should be a similar meeting of foreign secretaries. I did not know whether the president would bring Stettinius, recently appointed, with him, nor whether Molotov would come, but I should have liked a conference between Eden, Stettinius and Molotov at Alexandria or the Pyramids about a week before the president and I reached Yalta.

I therefore telegraphed again on January 8, and after setting forth this proposal, continued:

"I am still thinking it of high importance that our military men should get together for a few days before we arrive at Yalta."

"What are your ideas of the length of our stay at Yalta? This may well be a fateful moment when the Great Allies are so divided and the shadow of the war lengthens out before us. At the present time I think the end of this war may well prove to be more disappointing than was the last."

The president replied that he had directed Marshall, King and Arnold, with their assistants, to arrive in Malta in time for a conference with the British staffs in the forenoon of January 30, but explained that he could not spare Mr. Stettinius for a preliminary meeting of foreign secretaries. He himself would be at sea and his secretary of state ought not to be out of the country so long at the same time. He would join us instead at Malta and accompany our party to the triple conference.

"My idea," he concluded, "of the length of stay at Yalta is that it should not be more than five or six days. I am very desirous of keeping our date with Uncle Joe if it can possibly be done."

Churchill Persistent On Time for Talks

This was better than nothing.

but it seemed to me that we might run very short of time, and I therefore persisted.

Prime Minister to President Roosevelt

10 Jan., 1945.

"... Eden has particularly asked me to suggest that Stettinius might come on 48 hours earlier to Malta than the United States chiefs of staff, so that he (Eden) can run over the agenda with him beforehand. Even though Molotov were not invited, I am sure this would be found very useful. I do not see any other way of realizing our hopes about world organization in five or six days. Even the Almighty took seven. Pray, forgive my pertinacity."

But the president replied that there was too much business in Washington for Mr. Stettinius to reach Malta before January 31. He promised however to send Harry Hopkins to England to talk things over with Eden and myself. On January 21 Hopkins flew to London to discuss some of the topics which would confront us at the triple meeting, and the differences which had arisen between us in the previous month over Greece, Poland and Italy.

On January 29 I left Northolt in the Skymaster given to me by General Arnold. My daughter Sarah and the official party, together with Mr. Martin and Mr. Rowan, my private secretaries, and Commander Thompson, traveled with me. The rest of my personal staff and some departmental officials traveled in two other planes. We arrived at Malta just before dawn on January 30, and there I learnt that one of these two aircraft had crashed near Panteleria. Only three of the crew and two passengers survived. Such are the strange ways of fate.

During the journey I developed a high temperature, and under Lord Moran's orders I stayed in bed on the plane until noon. I then took up my quarters in HMS Orion, where I rested all day. In the evening I felt better, and both the Governor of Malta and Mr. Harman dined with me.

Meets Roosevelt Aboard USS Quincy

On the morning of February 2 the presidential party, on board the USS Quincy, steamed into Valletta harbor. It was a warm day, and under a cloudless sky I watched the scene from the deck of the Orion. As the American cruiser steamed slowly past us towards her berth alongside the quay wall I could see the figure of the President seated on the bridge, and we waved to each other. With the escort of Spitfires overhead, the salutes, and the bands of the ships' companies in the harbor playing "The Star-Spangled Banner" it was a splendid scene. I thought I was well enough to lunch on board, and at 6 o'clock that evening we had our first formal meeting in the President's cabin. Here we reviewed the report of the combined chiefs of staff and the military discussions which had been taking place in Malta during the previous three days.

I told the President that we ought to occupy as much of Austria as possible, as it was "undesirable that more of Western Europe than necessary should be occupied by the Russians."

That evening we all dined together on the Quincy, to talk over informally the conversations which had taken place on the previous days between Mr. Eden and Mr. Stettinius on the political issues which should be raised at Yalta. That night the exodus began. Transport planes took off at 10-minute intervals to carry some 700 persons, forming the British and American delegations, over 1,400 miles to the airfield of Saki, in the Crimea. A Royal Air Force contingent had been stationed there for two months beforehand to deal with the technical preparations. I boarded my plane after dinner, and went to bed. After a long and cold flight we landed on the airfield, which was under deep snow. My plane was ahead of the President's, and we stood for a while awaiting him. When he was carried down the lift from the Sacred Cow he looked frail and ill. Together we inspected the guards of honor, the President sitting in an open car, while I walked beside him. Our party then went into a large marquee for refreshment, with Molotov and the Russian delegation, which had come to meet us.

Presently we set off on a long drive from Saki to Yalta. Lord Moran and Mr. Martin came with me in my car. We had taken the precaution of bringing sandwiches with us, but after we had duly eaten them we were told Molotov awaited us, and we were invited to take places at a magnificent luncheon for about 10 people. The President's party had apparently slipped past unawares and Molotov was alone with two of his officials. He was in the best of humors, and offered us all the delicacies of the Russian table. We did our best to conceal the fact that we had already blunted our appetites.

The journey took us nearly eight hours, and the road was often lined by Russian soldiers, some of them women, standing shoulder to shoulder in the village streets and on the main bridges and mountain passes, and at other points in separate detachments. As we crossed the mountains and descended towards the Black Sea we suddenly passed into warm and brilliant sunshine and a most genial climate.

Israel Charges Arabs With New Killing

TEL AVIV, Israel (UP)—Israel charged today that Jordan Arab raiders machine-gunned an Israeli patrol and killed one guardsman Thursday in an attack near Hadera, south of Haifa, Israel.

The Arab raiders crossed back into Jordan carrying Israeli arms and ammunition seized in the attack on the border patrol, an Israeli government communique said.

Israel demanded an emergency session of the United Nations mixed armistice commission to consider this latest of a series of incidents along the tense Israeli-Arab frontier.

(Jordan's latest accusation against Israel in the series of flare-ups that has endangered the truce of the Holy Land said Israeli on Sunday night attacked the Jordanian village of Badrus, near devastated Qibya, where a number of Arabs were killed in an Israeli attack Oct. 14.)

Italian Court Sentences U.S. Soldiers in Absentia

NOVARA, Italy (AP)—The Novara court today convicted two Americans for the wartime, behind-the-lines slaying of Maj. William Holohan of New York City. They were tried in absentia. The court acquitted three Italian co-defendants.

Judge Francesco Sisicchi sentenced former Lieut. Aldo Icardi of Pittsburgh to life imprisonment. He sentenced former Sgt. Carlo D'Almeida of Rochester, N.Y., to 17 years in prison.

Since U.S. courts declined to extradite them, they cannot be forced to return to Italy to serve the sentences.

HAROLD BANKS

As our USED CAR RECONDITIONING AP-PRIMER, Harold Banks goes over every used car we take in trade... giving it a complete road test, too. Thirty years in this line has given him a good idea of what to look for. All defects found are carefully listed on an appraisal sheet for our reconditioning supervisor who then takes over. In this way we're sure NOTHING is overlooked.

Scout Hall to Benefit From Flower Show

A display of some of the finest cut and potted chrysanthemums grown in Victoria is exhibited at the Shelbourne Street Boy Scout Hall today and Saturday. The show, jointly sponsored by the Victoria and District Chrysanthemum Society and Mount Tolmie Scout

North Kiwanis Club Pledges Cash For Post-Polio Treatment Tank

A major aid in the treatment of post-polio patients, a Hubbard Tank soon will be available to the medical team at Royal Jubilee Hospital, thanks to a city service club.

President of Jubilee board of directors, J. C. Thow, announced today that Victoria North Kiwanis presented a cheque for $300 to the hospital Thursday to make the purchase possible, and pledged the necessary balance.

A similar tank was recently donated to St. Joseph's Hospital and several patients have been transferred there from Jubilee to receive exercise treatment in heated water in the tank.

The amount of the North Kiwanis gift might total $2,000. B.C. Hospital Insurance is committed to pay a third of such purchases.

Royal Jubilee is one of two polio isolation and treatment centres in all British Columbia. The other is at Vancouver General Hospital.

The dread disease was painfully felt in Victoria this year for the first time. Slowing slightly at present, polio has hit 94 Victorians and 18 persons from other parts of Vancouver Island. There have been four deaths.

Equipment shortages, particularly in regard to iron lungs and cramped isolation quarters, complicated treatment at peak periods.

Extra lungs were provided by the B.C. Polio Fund following a fund drive by the Vic Van Isle Kinsmen in time to avoid serious consequence.

Main problem at the centre now is one of rehabilitating persons who have passed the acute stage of the disease. Hospital authorities say the Hubbard tank will prove invaluable for this work.

Doug Handel, North Kiwanis president, presented the cheque on behalf of the club.

More than $1,000 was raised at an auction Thursday by the Oak Bay United Church, according to the pastor, Dr. W. W. McPherson. More than 400 people attended. PRETORIUS

NUTRITIONIST, AUTHOR, WORLD TRAVELER,

SHOW YOU THE WAY TO HEALTH & HAPPINESS

AND A GLORIOUS, NEW

ZEST for LIVING!

BY MAKING A FEW SIMPLE CHANGES IN YOUR EATING AND LIVING HABITS

WHO IS MARTIN PRETORIUS? He is a nutritionist, world traveler and author, a descendant of the ancient Pretorius family which migrated from Holland to South Africa in the early adventurous days of the Dutch East India Company. The city of his birth, Pretoria, was named for General Marthinus Pretorius, founder and first president of the Transvaal, Dutch Republic of South Africa. While in the service of the South African government, Martin Pretorius came in close contact with the primitive peoples of that country. He was impressed with their well developed bodies and abundant vitality. Continued observation brought the realization that these people did not have headaches, "jumpy nerves," insomnia, failing glands, poor eyesight. Nor did they suffer from arthritis, catarrh, colds, colitis, asthma, sinus, diabetes, skin diseases, nervousness, constipation, heartburn, indigestion, rheumatism, ulcers. Furthermore, these natives had no cancer, heart trouble, and did not die from high blood pressure. But as soon as these superbly healthy and happy natives migrated to the cities and adopted urban ways of living and eating, he noted that they began to suffer from the same ailments and diseases responsible for so much unhappiness among civilized people everywhere. Investigation of the causes of this change was for Martin Pretorius the beginning of a lifetime career of study, research and service to mankind.

WHEN CAN YOU HEAR PRETORIUS, have him help you as he has helped thousands all over the world? 1ST NIGHT: MONDAY, NOVEMBER 9, 7:59 P.M. HOW DID PRETORIUS get his first clue as to why civilized people break down and age physically sooner than they should? By observing how the primitives in South Africa lost both health and happiness, once they adopted "city ways." Dr. Martin Gumpert, nationally recognized old age specialist recently stated that Science has already proven that life can be prolonged and that using present knowledge of our happiness-destroying pains and aches, learn what causes the five different types of over weight — why the so-called "fattening" foods fail to make underweight people gain weight. Know why a deficient diet results in nervousness, irritability, and the loss of physical vigor and attractiveness. To be well nourished one must have GOOD CIRCULATION and GOOD BLOOD. It takes more than just eating nutritionally good foods to make good blood. Learn the SIX basic requirements that must be fulfilled to get into your blood everything needed to nourish every organ, gland and tissue in your body.

BETTER NUTRITION makes possible greater vitality, glowing health, energetic youth. Sickness may be prevented by applying principles taught by Martin Pretorius. See how you can produce more energy. See the mysterious life force, that must be present in your food, filtered through ultra microscopes. See why the absence of this principle in food today is responsible for many of our happiness-destroying pains and aches. Learn what causes the five different types of over weight — why the so-called "fattening" foods fail to make underweight people gain weight. Know why a deficient diet results in nervousness, irritability, and the loss of physical vigor and attractiveness. To be well nourished one must have GOOD CIRCULATION and GOOD BLOOD. It takes more than just eating nutritionally good foods to make good blood. Learn the SIX basic requirements that must be fulfilled to get into your blood everything needed to nourish every organ, gland and tissue in your body.

WHO benefits? YOU ARE THE ONE. Do you look and feel older than you really are? Do you suffer increasingly from sleeplessness, irritability, chronic fatigue and the like? This need not happen to you. Martin Pretorius has helped thousands of others. He can help YOU. With this wonderful, natural way to health he has met and conquered problems similar to your own. Avail yourself of this priceless knowledge, it can transform your life! With greater health and energy will come greater happiness, greater usefulness, greater prosperity and security. You will become a NEW, VIBRANT YOU!

HERE'S WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT PRETORIUS:
"We are particularly pleased with the response we are getting from your articles on diet." — Daily Mirror, New York.
"I have had the pleasure of hearing Martin Pretorius twice and thoroughly enjoyed both lectures." — ELEANOR KITCHEN, Assistant Dean of Women, Boston University
"His lecture proved not only to be very interesting, but unusually helpful. The fact that the audience remained for two hours, and were then reluctant to go, is ample evidence of the attitude of his hearers." — FRANK C. SPRAGUE, President, Northeastern University
"After hearing one of your lectures on Food Science, I was so impressed with your broad knowledge of the subject that I was pleased when you addressed our Physical Directors' Society at their regular meeting at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. The members present were unanimous in endorsing your work." — GEORGE L. LESTMAN, State Director of Physical Education

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Mr. Gunderson is reported as saying his wife keeps asking him where the money came from to reduce B.C. debt by $34,000,000.

That's a wife for you, always nagging you to account for every measly penny.

Anybody got the answer to the $34,000,000 question?

Headline in yesterday's paper:
"DREW FAVORS PARTIES IN CIVIC AFFAIRS"
Sounds logical. Many interesting affairs have started at parties.

The current disagreement between Canada and the United States on the question of TCA's proposed Mexico route is serious, and we shouldn't be flippant about it.

But doesn't it remind you of the angry little girl telling her neighbor, "You can't slide down MY cellar door any more?"

FREE CHEERS DEPARTMENT: Today's huzzah is for Victoria's excellent schoolboy traffic patrols, and the work done by Sgt. Brooke Douglas and Constable Ian Duncan.

It's worth a few moments of your time to stop and watch the well-drilled youngsters controlling traffic at the intersections near the schools.

The kids obviously love the job, and use their "stop" flags with a flourish.

Also, there's no doubt of the safety value of the patrols.

Which brings us to the true story of a mother whose eight-year-old daughter is a patrol member.

Mother and daughter were downtown shopping one Saturday, and mother decided she wanted to cross Douglas Street to visit another store.

She happened to be half-way down the block, and, rather than walk all the way back to the intersection, grasped daughter's hand and started to jay-walk.

But daughter dug in her heels and held back.

In a clear voice overheard by a dozen bystanders, she said reprovingly: "Mother, you can't do that. It's against the law, and besides, it isn't safe."

Blushing, mother allowed herself to be led to the corner.

Bob Patch, a staunch Progressive Conservative, drove his car around for two days with a Social Credit advertising banner on the rear bumper.

When pals kidded him about it, he replied, "I admit I didn't notice the Social Credit strip, and I cannot understand why. I usually read all the comic strips daily."

"But," he added, "I'm keen on Deane, and don't wish to grow leaner with Einar."

TOPICS OF THE TIMES

A fine of $35 and a license suspension was imposed against Nancy Chew, RR 1, Royal Oak, when she pleaded guilty before Magistrate H. C. Hall in Saanich police court Thursday to a charge of careless driving. Charge was laid after she had been in collision with another car at Richmond and Lansdowne Oct. 21. Court was told the accident occurred when Miss Chew ignored a stop sign.

Date of the preliminary hearing of Frank Lane, 160 Gorge, charged with manslaughter as a result of a traffic death, will be set next Thursday afternoon in Saanich police court. Charge against Lane followed the death of Miss Laurada Jones, 55, of 31 Gorge Road East, on Gorge Road near Qu'Appelle, on the night of Oct. 17. Lane's counsel is George F. Gregory.

Involved in an accident on the Patricia Bay Highway in which $600 damage was done to vehicles, Adam Ferguson, Cordova Bay P.O., was fined $40 in Saanich police court Thursday for careless driving.

The election program of the Labor-Progressive Party will be outlined by party leader Nigel Morgan and candidate Doris Blakey at a meeting in Williams Hall, 749 Broughton St., tonight at 8.

The speakers will outline a policy of action aimed at preventing further layoffs, regaining lost markets and adoption of a new trade policy "which will lead to jobs for B.C. workers," a spokesman said.

Dumping rubbish illegally in a public place resulted in fines for two persons in Saanich police court Thursday. Glen McLellan, 1289 Centre, was fined $10, and Kenneth Hartley, 106 Medina, $15.

Julia Hibbard, 670 Gorge Road, West, was fined a total of $65 for two traffic offenses by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Through counsel she pleaded guilty to careless driving on Hillside Avenue Oct. 24 and was fined $35 and was fined an additional $30 for failing to remain at the scene of an accident. Damage to vehicles in the two-

Gaglardi Expects Plan On West Coast Road Soon

The department of public works has completed three surveys of possible road links between Jordan River and Port Renfrew and a proposal for construction of this section of the West Coast Road is expected shortly.

Public Works Minister G. A. Gaglardi said today: "I can't say whether the road will be built next year, but I'm expecting to receive any moment now a 'proposition' for construction of a West Coast Road."

Port Renfrew is about 53 miles from Victoria. At present the West Coast Road ends at Jordan River, 33 miles from here.

LAND SALE
It was learned today as to one of the most valuable pieces of property at Port Renfrew has been sold by members of an English family to the B.C. Forest Products Co. Ltd. The land belonged to the estate of the late George William Godman of England who acquired it many years ago. Details of the sale are not known.

The property includes several hundred acres and is situated on the east side of the Bay of the Port of San Juan. It would

Mike-Shy Mexicans Duck Canadian Recording

Lloyd Baker, who was on the inaugural round-trip Canadian Pacific Airways flight from Vancouver to Lima, Peru, via Mexico City, writes of musical interludes in this article, one of a series.

By LLOYD BAKER,
Times City Editor

MEXICO CITY—Whether it is the long iron arm of musicians' union president James Pettilio or just a quirk of the local entertainers, no one seems to be certain.

But there were embarrassing moments at a pageant of native Mexican folk dances and music arranged for our party at the exclusive Country Club of Mexico City when two radio networks attempted to record the proceedings.

Bill Herbert and Ken Buhr of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, and Bert Cannings of Vancouver radio station CKWX, who also is representing independent radio stations of B.C., had the place in a flurry.

We had been served an excellent luncheon of "typical Mexican dishes" and the entertainment was started.

A band of Mexicanos in their broad-brimmed sombreros, spangled jackets and tight-fitting trousers and wearing high-heeled boots opened the show.

When they saw the radio men starting to set up their recording gear, there was a hurried huddle. The Canadians were asked by an embarrassed official of the Mexican Tourist Department, to listen only.

They did, and ignored the fact that during the playing of the first selection a microphone cord was mysteriously disconnected, and the delicate instrument was pulled off a chair.

The radio men did not attempt further to cut their tapes until half way through the dancing portion of the program. When a group of "native Aztecs" appeared in spectacular costume to show us the primitive dances of that early race, the band did not provide accompaniment.

The dancers themselves beat on long, skin-covered drums, and strummed odd-shaped ukelele-type instruments.

Thinking that the situation had changed, the radio men swung their microphones into position.

First the leader of the troupe shook his fists and then he gestured to someone on the sidelines, showing that he was unhappy about the recordings.

When they finished their first dance, they stood back insisting the mikes be removed before they proceeded.

With apologies, the radio men did so, and with further apologies the welcoming officials tried to explain the mikes' fright. They thought it had something to do with the musicians' union, but were not certain.

The punch-line came at the end of the dancing.

The band members said they were sorry and now would play for the radio recordings.

They swung into a not-too-loyal rendition of something along the lines of "Waltzing Matilda."

The radio boys had their recordings, but they were a long way from Mexico of yesterday.

Push-Button Tree-toppers Guard Lines

This equipment, now operating along Greater Victoria streets where power lines are strung adjacent to tall trees, allows B.C. Electric Company linemen to trim branches which might cause failures in supply. The 45-foot span is operated by controls in the so-called "crow's nest," the platform from which the trimmers work. Cost of the unit was in excess of $15,000. It is the first of its kind in this area. (Times Photo.)

Haighs Escape Through Loophole Of Wartime Laws

Charge against Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haigh of maintaining a multiple dwelling in a Rockland Avenue area zoned for single family homes was dismissed by Magistrate H. C. Hall in city police court today.

Defense counsel J. A. Byers had argued wartime regulations and Trade Board's leasehold regulations—which take precedence over all local by-laws—had never been rescinded.

"No order by the board has been cited to me to tell that the board's ruling has ever been withdrawn," Magistrate Hall said in handing down judgment. "The charge is dismissed," he added.

The Haighs earlier were fined for unlawfully maintaining a junkyard without a permit at 1586 Rockland. The case is being appealed by Mr. Byers.

Magistrate Hall adjourned the case of Mrs. Haigh, charged with obstructing a building inspector in the performance of his duty, to Nov. 10 for judgment following a trial today.

Because Remembrance Day falls on a Wednesday, the Victoria Public Market will be open Tuesday, Nov. 10, instead of Wednesday, Nov. 11.

HOSPITAL MILK COSTS MAY FORCE 'IMPORTS'

Price policies of Greater Victoria dairies may force Jubilee Hospital to import 80 gallons of milk a day from the mainland.

Hospital administrator George Masters told Chamber of Commerce's civic affairs group Thursday afternoon six dairies recently submitted identical bids to the hospital.

Each tender was 23 cents per quart. That's just one cent below the doorstep-price to householders.

Jubilee Hospital buys $28,000 worth of milk each year. "It's not 'free enterprise' when six firms get together and bid the same price," Mr. Masters said. "We don't want to have to go outside for milk but we may have to. There's something wrong. The producer gets $5.90 for 10 gallons of milk but the price to us (Jubilee Hospital), is $9.20."

City Line Crews Affected By Negotiation Breakdown

Some 35 Victoria men will be affected by the breakdown of negotiations between two power line contracting firms and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (I.B.E.W.).

When Hume & Rumble Ltd. and Peterson Electrical Construction Co. Ltd. refused to implement the full wages and conditions offer of the B.C. Electric, now being voted on by its Vancouver and Victoria linemen and power-house crews, the union rejected settlement proposals.

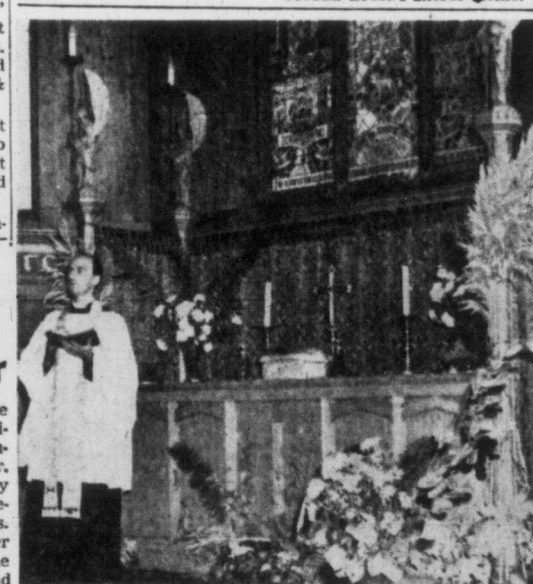

"This will mean conciliation," said George Gee, business agent of the union's Vancouver local. The Victoria men concerned are employed by Hume & Rumble.

The original plan was that the two companies would "go along" with the settlement reached between the union and the B.C.E.

The two firms refused to contribute to a pension fund, to grant extra wet-weather pay, or to permit time off in lieu of pay for 50 per cent of overtime work. The firms now guarantee pay for 60 hours per year in which workers are idled by wet weather, and the union wants this raised to 96 hours.

Nursing Home Directors May Quit in Crisis

Dr. Laura Holland Makes Threat To Toss Problem to City Council

Threat that the Victoria Nursing Home board of directors might resign and throw the whole problem of the $400,000 nursing home addition and land tangle into the laps of city aldermen, was made at a meeting today of directors and members of city council's land committee by Dr. Laura Holland.

Member of the nursing home committee, Dr. Holland's remark followed long altercation between council committee and nursing home board members over the problem of finding suitable additional land to meet possible future requirements for expansion.

The discussion ended without a solution being found.

The council committee suggested a completely new scheme which Ald. Robert Macmillan, chairman, described as "a fair and equitable solution to the problem."

Nursing home representatives were not convinced that the solution was either fair or equitable. Some expressed open opposition. But the nursing home delegation agreed to give it further study.

PROPOSAL OUTLINED

The proposal is that the Nursing Home turn over 1.75 acres, fronting Selkirk Water, in exchange for 2.43 acres of city-owned property next to the land which the nursing home would retain.

The nursing home representatives clearly indicated they felt the waterfront property they were asked to give up was worth more than the property the city intended to exchange.

Nursing home chairman F. E. Winslow pointed to the centre of the city-owned block and suggested: "This property in here is probably of no value to anybody."

Ald. Macmillan countered: "Well, it's of unestimable value to the nursing home. You've just been telling us that property is essential to you."

Nursing home directors were then concerned with what would happen to the waterfrontage if they did agree to give it up.

Mrs. E. C. Warren, member of the VNH board, said she didn't want a lot of houses built there so old people in the nursing home would have nothing to look at but other people's back yards. She pointed out that it was possible the nursing home would want to expand in that direction before long.

The committee said it was prepared to keep the waterfront property in its present condition "for a reasonable period of time," during which the nursing home could negotiate to buy the property back if it decided it really needed it for expansion.

MEANINGLESS PHRASE

Mr. Winslow and others said a "reasonable period of time" could mean anything and that they didn't like the suggestion.

Mayor Claude Harrison agreed "reasonable time" didn't mean anything, and suggested he would be prepared to hold the land for one year.

He said he would fight to keep the city out of either nursing home or hospital business.

Ald. P. B. Scurrah sided with members of the nursing home committee who resented the suggestion of the new exchange proposal.

HAMSTRINGING

"I personally think we are hamstringing the nursing home by limiting the amount of their grounds and preventing future expansion," he said.

He favored an earlier proposal that the city sell the next-door property, including waterfrontage, to the nursing home for $1,000, keeping only the northern part, facing Gorge Road.

He said he would fight to keep the city out of either nursing home or hospital business.

At a certain port, an immigration officer whiled away his time one day noting down some statistics on people who entered the country during his spell of duty. He noticed there were twice as many males as females — also that seven times the number of blue-eyed males would have been just four less than three times the total of all the other entrants. Altogether there were only between 50 and 100 people involved in his casual survey. How many of the males had blue eyes?

Thursday's answer Jack had $1.68.

SHOPPING GUIDE

Some Are Clean, Some Aren't —Pick Vegetables Carefully!

By PENNY SAVER

I never cease to be amazed at the difference in Victoria's produce stores... and I'm not meaning in price!

You'll find some stores spotlessly clean. Vegetables and fruits are washed daily. Outer leaves on such vegetables as lettuce and cabbages are removed as soon as they show tinges of brown. Everything looks so fresh and crisp that I find myself dreaming of green salads and fresh fruit desserts.

Then there are stores which display the produce just as it came to them. All they do is rip the tops off the cartons when they arrive, or dump everything into large bins... and you'll find that these are the stores which charge you the most!

The first of the Japanese oranges have arrived in town. They weren't called mandarins, though... they're "Satsumas." The oranges are selling at 40 cents a dozen. Regular California oranges are 39 cents a dozen.

I figured it was about time for the delicious apples to start arriving by the dozens! Sales aren't quite in full swing yet, as all stores aren't stocked with them. But the stores that do have them are going all out! One store has great displays, large and small all priced at 29 cents for two pounds.

One store is selling a mixture of wild huckleberries and blueberries at 30 cents a pound. That's cheaper than the prices either fruit sold at separately. And what a combination for a home-made pie!

Brussels sprouts are going at 20 cents a pound this week. Same price as last week, by the way. Saw some at 10 cents a pound... not quite as firm as the others, but clean and fresh. So if you're budgeting...

Mentioning salads a few paragraphs back, reminded me of those packets of shredded fresh vegetables that sell for 15 cents. On a diet? Then eat as is! If not, whip some salad dressing or vinegar into it, and serve.

How to Get Out of Chair
And Other Beauty Advice

Q—"I always feel awkward when I get up out of a chair. I see people get up with no trouble. There is nothing wrong with me except I am awkward. I guess. How do I do it without pushing myself up?"

A.—In the first place, move near to the edge of the chair. It is difficult to rise from a deep chair if you are sitting far back in it. Place the right foot back under you a bit and the left foot forward some. Let your leg and thigh muscles do the work. Try this out and I am sure you will not find it too difficult.

Q—"Is there any medicine that will make my fingernails stronger? They are too limber and peel off."

A.—I know of nothing you can put on your nails which will make them stronger. However, the following three procedures will be helpful. Leave polish off for a while. Drink more milk for the calcium it contains. Take a vitamin capsule daily which gives you some vitamin D.

Q—"What can I do to reduce a full face?"

A.—The only way you can reduce the face is to lose weight. However, the correct makeup and hair style will help make it look slimmer.

Q—"How can I correct sloping shoulders? I am 15 years old."

A.—Of course if you are round-shouldered your shoulders will slope more than they will if you hold yourself correctly.

Ill-Natured Neighbors
Necessitate Spite Fence

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

Neighbors can be a source of pleasure or of constant irritation. A woman writes.

(Q)—"Every time I go out in our yard, our next-door neighbors are rude and mean. They say dreadful things to me, calling me all sorts of names and making all kinds of unpleasant comments about me and my family. They don't hesitate to walk across our property but if we did the same to theirs, they would make such a fuss that the whole neighborhood would hear. I should like to move but it is not so easy as we bought this house with a GI loan. A friend of mine suggested that we put up a fence and I hope to be able to get enough money for one by next spring. Will this solve our problem?"

(A)—It is too bad when neighbors must put up a "spite fence." However, there are times when such a fence is the only solution. If you decide one is necessary to solve your problem, get as artistic a fence as possible and cover it with rapidly growing vines so it will not be a blot on the landscape.

Once you get a fence on your property, it will mean that they should not trespass without your permission. If you were friendly, you would not object to their coming on your property any more than they should object to your going on theirs.

But, as they do object, you have every right to keep them off. Ask them politely not to walk over your yard. If they persist, then tell them you will have to inform the police. A person has no right to insult people and walk over their property against their wishes. The law is there to protect your rights as a citizen. Use it.

Appliances, Main Floor

Between Ourselves

By ELIZABETH FORBES

I was standing near Kabuki Theatre in Tokyo, on a dark rainy night not long ago. The front of the theatre was etched in lights and there were huge colored lanterns at the entrance. Just beyond the circle of light I saw a narrow lane. And crossing the wide boulevard toward that lane was a black rickshaw drawn by a bentback Japanese wearing a wide black rain hat and a black rain cape that glistened in the reflected light from the swaying lanterns.

The rickshaw was narrow and high, with a curved canopy roof. Quite different to those I had seen in the Imperial Park and at Nara. It had a water-proof cover pulled up over the front, almost to the roof to protect the person it carried.

As it drifted toward the dark lane, I imagined I caught a glimpse of brown eyes looking over the top of the cover and the gleam of jeweled pins in jet black hair. "Look!" I said excitedly to the Japanese friend with me. "What is that?"

"Head geisha, going to a party," was the answer.

"Down that lane?" I said a little skeptically. "Lane will lead to big restaurant where Japanese business men entertain," came the reply.

There doesn't seem to be a counterpart of the geisha girl in any other country in the world. If I am to believe my Japanese friend. She is a night club entertainer and also the Japanese businessman's social companion. You will often see him in her company at such formal dinners as those to which a Canadian or an European businessman would take his wife or daughter . . . but not anyone else.

Geisha's Training Long and Severe

Besides being a singer, dancer and instrumentalist, a geisha is also "a table companion with whom one can carry on a delightful conversation," my Japanese friend told me.

"Of course geisha girls also supply romance," he said, "and in olden days she made an ideal concubine."

A Japanese man in business and political fields would be very much handicapped if he did not have a geisha, upon whom he could depend to "help put those he wants to do business with in a receptive mood" at the dinner parties he gives for that express purpose, said my friend.

There are four types of geisha, he told me. First, Osha ku, the wine pourers . . . giggling, gaudily dressed young girls with long pins sticking out of their hair . . . often mistaken for foreigners for real geisha. Second, geisha girls of the lower class gay quarters.

Third are the geisha girls of highest class gay quarters. "They are like many of your actresses, concert singers, chorus girls or other entertainers in western countries," my friend told me . . . "only I must say they do have a greater latitude in morals perhaps than your entertainers."

Fourth, there is the highest type of geisha, "who usually are mistresses of leaders in politics and business."

Geishas are trained from childhood, some of them in the famed geisha schools in Tokyo and in Kyoto. Girls from 12 to 16 years are selected by agents of the leading geisha houses . . . usually from the children of the poorer classes and are "bought" for a period of years depending on the amount paid . . . from a hundred to more than a thousand dollars.

The child is placed under the most severe discipline, her duties being many and tedious. She waits upon the real geishas and for hours each day she goes through exacting lessons in etiquette.

Made When She Find a 'Patron'

She learns polite speech and repartee; she is taught to dance and move with grace; to sing, compose her own ditties on lively topics. It is hard, cruel life!

When the girl reaches the age of 17 or 18, her training is complete and she "comes out." She is introduced to the numerous restaurants and tea houses in which she expects to appear.

From that time on she leads an easier life. If she is popular she can even become temperamental. But she cannot expect to amount to anything until she catches a good patron—a leading businessman, politician or some other person of consequence.

"And you can be sure it is the geisha who chooses the patron," my Japanese friend assured me . . . "and not always a man with money."

Many a great geisha has staked an ambitious young man. All her savings and whatever she could borrow is "invested" in him. When he rises to fame and fortune ("geishas are noted for picking winners" my friend said) the man will take care of her for the rest of her life.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Yellowlees To Live at Crossfield, Alta.

Wedding vows and rings were exchanged in a ceremony in St. Mark's Church Thursday when Edna Patricia Tredaway, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tredaway, 1925 Brighton Avenue, became the bride of David John Yellowlees, Crossfield, Alta., son of Mr. and Mrs. David Yellowlees, Calgary, Alta.

Canon Robert Willis performed the double-ring ceremony in a setting of bronze chrysanthemums. The bride's father gave her in marriage. During the signing of the register the church choir sang the anthem "O Father All Creating." Mrs. L. H. Ashby played organ music.

A bridal gown of shimmering white nylon net over satin with fitted bodice and full sweeping skirt was worn by the bride. A jacket of Chantilly lace with pointed collar and lily point sleeves extended past the waistline to form a floor-length pepum. From her wreath of orange blossom misted a fingertip veil of embossed net. She carried a cascading bouquet of yellow roses and wore as her only jewelry a pearl necklace, gift of the groom.

Matron of honor, Mrs. B. E. Lennox, wore a gown of gold corded silk with low neckline and matching bolero. The full skirt was accentuated with flounces at the hipline. She wore a hair bandeau of bronze chrysanthemums and carried a matching bouquet.

Miss Margaret McNaughton, Didsbury, Alta., niece of the groom, was flower girl, wearing a silk dress of apple green with Peter Pan collar and puff sleeves. She wore a hair bandeau of yellow chrysanthemums and carried a bouquet of yellow pom pom chrysanthemums.

Best man and ushers were Harry Kilby and Robert Flint. Reception was held at St. Mark's Parish Hall, where mothers of the young couple received guests.

A three-tier wedding cake topped with rosebuds and flanked by yellow candles was cut. Bronze and gold chrysanthemums decorated the hall. Canon Willis pronounced the toast. The bride donned an apricot wool crepe dress with full-length muskrat coat and brown accessories for traveling on honeymoon to California. Mr. and Mrs. Yellowlees will live at Strathallan Farm, Crossfield, Alta.

Newlyweds Home From Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Kowalyk have recently returned from their honeymoon in the United States and have made their home in Victoria. Formerly Olga Leschuk, the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Leschuk, 2516 Prior Street. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Kowalyk, 802 Hillside Avenue. They were married in First United Church. (Photo by Jus-Rite.)

Mainland Wedding Of Interest Here

A marriage of interest in Victoria took place recently in Vancouver when Effie-Louise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Laurence Paul Malo, Vancouver, became the bride of Colin Whitmore Halford, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Halford, Victoria.

Rev. T. M. Nichol officiated at the high noon service in Church of St. Peter and St. Paul. White nylon tulle was allied with Alencon lace to create the full-skirted, bridal gown with brief bolero jacket. French illusion veiling was caught to a period headdress and the bride carried a prayer book with white orchids.

Bouffant gowns in ankle-length of copper-toned lace over champagne taffeta were worn by the trio of attendants. They carried bouquets of chrysanthemums to combine with their floral corsages.

Miss Carmen Opsal was maid of honor and Miss Patricia Malo and Miss Barbara Malo, the bridesmaids. S. Anderson was best man and ushers were Russell Halford and Reg Milroy. Members of the groom's family in Victoria attended the wedding.

Following a reception in Hotel Georgia's Connaught Room, the newlyweds left for a wedding trip to San Francisco. Upon their return they will live at 1455 West Fifteenth Avenue, Vancouver.

Defense Important in World Peace

"We think of democratic freedom negatively," challenged Dr. Ormond Solandt in an address to the Women's Canadian Club, Thursday afternoon, in the Empress Hotel. "We think of it as absence of fear, absence of oppression, instead of as a strong, positive and desirable way of life."

Speaking on the subject, "Defense Research—A Fourth Service," he warned however, that the strength of our free world, while it has deterred aggression, is by no means enough.

"Don't sit back and take pride in the defense established in Canada against outright aggression. We must be alert to prevent the infiltration of ideas of communism, potent weapons in themselves."

Dr. Solandt, who has been chairman of the Defense Board of Canada since 1946, and who is scientific member of the chiefs of staff committee, gave a detailed analysis of the several establishments across Canada under board supervision which work to guard the present and future, and seek improvements in conducting of peace as well as war, by the three armed services.

He told of the Naval Research Establishment on the Atlantic coast, the radio physics laboratory in Ottawa, where special research is going on with regard to radio communication problems in the auroral belt around the North Pole. He described the Spencer Research Medical

HATCHER RAPS CIVIL DEFENSE APATHY HERE

Victoria and district civil defense director Leonard G. Hatcher today scored what he termed the "apathy" of citizens in area preparedness plans.

He had words of praise for the 4,000 volunteers in the civil defense framework, but said, "we should have 10,000, not 4,000."

The potential number of volunteers in the area he listed as nearly 30,000.

"Surely it is not too much to ask that we get a mere one third of these," he said.

Mr. Hatcher estimated there were close to 1,000 persons available with first aid training. "We just want them to come and register, so in an emergency we can place them."

Bonner Dedicates New Mount View Buildings Tonight

Mount View High School $148,000 worth of building additions will be dedicated at ceremonies tonight at 8.

Hon. Robert Bonner, attorney general and education minister, will be principal speaker at formalities which leading educationists will attend.

A graduates' reunion planned to coincide with the dedication.

The school band and glee club will provide entertainment and exhibition basketball games will draw guests to the new gymnasium after the auditorium ceremony.

The gymnasium is in a separate building. A library, a new classroom have been added to the old school block, and department alterations and additions have been made in the auditorium, including erecting of a new stage and dressing rooms.

Excited Audience Cries Warnings As Wolf Stalks Red Riding Hood

BY AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON
The first performances of St. Luke's Players' Children's Theatre at St. J. Willis Junior High School last week-end were 100 per cent successful in the minds and hearts of the children who were present.

But a scant 25 per cent of the potential child audience in that district attended the Friday evening and Saturday matinee presentations of "Little Red Riding Hood".

This obviously means that neither the children or their parents and teachers fully understand the idea behind children's theatre. If the youngsters who formed such an eager, enthusiastic audience last week could make a public report on their reactions, there is no doubt Esquimalt High School where the show will be staged this Friday evening and Saturday afternoon, would be packed to overflowing.

Charlotte Chorpennig, who wrote this three-act play, is the renowned author of some of the most delightful pieces for young people obtainable. Her elaborations on familiar tales are a riot of imagination, comedy, color and excitement.

The adult cast of "Red Riding Hood" and its director, Margaret Martin, have catered wholeheartedly to the children. They expect their audience to take a noisy part in the proceedings; they are not taken aback when a small boy, finding it necessary to leave the room, requests the actors to "stay where they are and don't do anything till I get back."

The delighted participation of the children in this magic world of make-believe was unlike anything witnessed before, declared several adults who were present and thoroughly enjoyed the show themselves.

The Friday and Saturday performances this week at Esquimalt High School will bring the enchantment of children's theatre to another section of the city, and if word gets around and parents and teachers are wise, they'll encourage the youngsters to take advantage of a grand opportunity.

Youngsters Enthralled by Play

Agog with interest, these cute kiddies watch wide-eyed the delightful antics of "Little Red Riding Hood," a children's play presented by the St. Luke Players in the S. J. Willis High School. The play, written by Charlotte Chorpennig, points the way for further presentations of plays for the children of Victoria. It is hoped this will spark appreciation of the "live" theatre in future years. The play is being repeated at the Esquimalt High School tonight, and at a special matinee Saturday afternoon.

Bing Crosby Admits Moderate Drinking Day of Car Crash

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bing Crosby testified Thursday he had "three maybe four" scotch and sodas over a period of about eight hours before an auto collision last October 11.

The crooner gave a deposition in connection with a $1,051,400 damage suit filed by three occupants of a car that was in a collision with Crosby's $12,500 Mercedes-Benz sports machine.

Frank Verdugo, 32, a city fireman; his wife Lucy, 25, and her brother, Eulalio Perea, 25, a produce market clerk, were injured.

Their suit alleges that Crosby was "under the influence of intoxicating liquors" when the cars crashed about 5:30 a.m. Crosby denied this in answering questions put by the plain-

'Federation First'

Loyalty to Union Comes Before Responsibility To Pupil or Public, Ratepayers' Meeting Told

SOOKE — Loyalty of school teachers to the B.C. Teachers' Federation has roused the ire of a school trustee here.

D. J. De Rochie, in addressing Sooke ratepayers this week, expressed his disapproval and surprise at the recently-discovered information that new teachers swear their loyalty to their union, "rather than to the pupils and public they are supposed to serve."

Commenting on the board's negotiations on wages, Mr. De Rochie reported that teachers' requests for salary increases varying from 15 to 20 per cent had gone to arbitration, and the increase finally decided was four per cent.

He pointed out that while arbitration had cost the taxpayers approximately $750 in legal fees, it would result in a saving of many times that amount.

Mr. De Rochie mentioned the dissatisfaction of parents with the results of the junior matriculation examinations, particularly with regard to the poor showing made in social studies. He said this was not a local phenomenon, but a situation that had been widespread throughout the province, and consequently it was not reasonable to hold the teachers entirely responsible.

He said the teacher's job was undoubtedly becoming more and more difficult because of changing complexion of the times and the more general disregard for law and order, both of which have had their effect on students and consequently increased the problem of discipline.

He charged that there are courses on the curriculum in which the teachers themselves have little confidence, and that it was difficult under those

NEWS BRIEFS

City's public works committee today agreed to co-operate with Saanich and Oak Bay municipalities in making Foul Bay Road a through street.

Traffic on all cross streets will be required to halt at stop signs.

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan will address the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Dairyman's Association Friday, Nov. 13, at 8 p.m. at the Duncan Armory.

A pedestrian crosswalk is to be installed on Johnson Street, 50 feet west of Harbor Road, public works committee decided Thursday.

Harbor Road runs north from Johnson from the E & N Railway trestle which crosses Johnson, just east of Johnson Street Bridge.

Chamber Report Backs Dairyman On Milk Rulings

Directors Consider Approach to Cabinet

Vancouver Island dairy farmers' campaign against B.C. Milk Board's new fluid-milk shipping quota system may be joined this afternoon by Victoria Chamber of Commerce. The quotas are an important part of the Milk Board's recent decision to decontrol milk prices above the producer level.

At press-time Chamber of Commerce directors were considering a civic affairs' sub-committee recommendation that Milk Board order No. 40, establishing the quota system, should not be implemented for at least a year. The recommendation also urges elimination of permanent unalterable quotas. Quotas should be reviewed annually and adjusted according to circumstances, the sub-committee suggests.

Endorsement by the VCC directors would be followed by representations to Agriculture Minister K. W. Kiernan, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and the Cabinet.

RECONSIDERATION? Indications from Parliament Buildings are the agriculture department and the Milk Board already are seriously reconsidering the clauses that give permanency to the new system's individual quotas. These clauses were the chief point of attack at Milk Board public meetings at Duncan and Ladysmith last month and in individual representations by dairymen.

The recommendation being debated by VCC directors this afternoon originated with a six-man civic affairs' sub-committee headed by Ald. J. Don Smith. The group has been investigating the effects on Vancouver Island urban and rural economies of Milk Board order No. 40 promulgated last Sept. 15. Discussions with dairy farmers, distributors, Milk Board and government officials preceded the writing of the 1,000-word report endorsed by civic affairs committee after a 1½-hour debate Thursday afternoon.

PERMANENT PLAN

Milk Board order No. 40 gives a permanent share of the Vancouver Island market to Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association. It also gives FVMPA a proportionate permanent share of the unfilled part of any Vancouver Island farmer's quota. Future annual quota of each shipper will be governed by his shipments between Aug. 31 and Jan. 31, heretofore the lowest production months on V.I. dairy farms.

Ald. Smith's sub-committee recognizes "the need for a certain degree of control in order the public's requirements are met on a year-round basis. It admits "V.I. dairymen have had difficulty for some years past in meeting the needs of the Island market." But it also emphasizes V.I. farmers can—and will—rearrange their dairying operations to provide more winter-time milk. A year's delay in settling quotas would change the V.I. fluid-milk picture materially, committee members say.

FREE-RIDING DUCK

ROSEMARY, Alta. (CP)—A duck that became lodged in the front fender of an automobile was given a 75-mile ride by a local garageman before its plight was discovered. Apparently unharmed, it flew away when released by the motorist.

ISLAND DIGEST

NANAIMO — Youngsters here lit numerous bonfires Thursday night to observe Guy Fawkes Day and the discovery of the famous gunpowder plot to destroy parliament. The city is one of the few in Canada to observe the anniversary.

DUNCAN — North Cowichan council referred the question of "what constitutes a Christmas tree" to Reeve A. E. Beasley and municipal clerk A. Vandecasteyen.

Christmas tree cutting in the municipality will not be allowed until the decision is made. Cutters will pay 6 cents per tree, and double that if a tree is cut and not removed.

CAMPBELL RIVER — Village commissioners have told the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service that the following conditions will be agreed to regarding construction of a new hospital here: site of eight acres, good access road, village water supply, and absence of sawmills, smoke stacks or cemeteries in the vicinity.

NANAIMO — Condition on passage of a $325,000 by-law in December, Mayor George Muir promised Brechin Ratepayers' Association that the city water system would be extended to Brechin by next summer at the latest.

It will become part of the Greater Nanaimo Water Board with proclamation of a bill passed in the last Legislature.

COURTENAY — The government has not yet found a boat which it considers suitable for the Denman Island-Buckley Bay ferry run, a service it will operate itself.

Until a boat is secured, the present service operated by Denman Island Ferry Ltd., owned by Baikie brothers, will continue with a subsidy of $1,000 per month.

Potala Palace, massive residence of the Dalai Lama of Tibet at Lhasa, is said to be the only building in Tibet which has electricity.

2 Young Sailors Each Fined $75; Stole Overcoat

Magistrate Henry C. Hall in city police court told two sailors before him they had committed a crime "that will leave a terribly black mark against you for the rest of your lives, even in the services."

The magistrate then imposed a $75 fine against each of the accused, James William McCrae, 18, and James Douglas McCord, 18, of HMCS Naden, who had earlier pleaded guilty to stealing an overcoat from a citizen's car.

The default if fines were not paid was one month in jail.

"It was a silly thing to do, since you had no use for the coat," commented Magistrate Hall.

They were arrested by Constable John Maybin early Wednesday morning when he found them in possession of a coat reported to have been stolen from a parked car in the city.

Memorial Service Set at Buildings

A short memorial ceremony will be held in the rotunda of the Legislative Buildings Tuesday, Nov. 10, at 4:45 p.m., to honor the memory of civil servants killed in two world wars.

Premier W. A. C. Bennett will place the wreath upon the plaque, and the service will be conducted by Dean P. R. Beattie of Christ Church Cathedral.

Relatives of civil servants killed in action as well as the general public are invited.

LLOYD SCORES RUSSIANS

14 Nations Call For New Talks on World Disarmament

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP) — Britain today blamed Russia's "cynical, discouraging and exasperating" attitude for the failure of United Nations disarmament efforts and called for a new start to work out "practical arrangements" for disarmament.

SELWYN LLOYD
... hammers Reds

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told the UN's main political committee that no useful purpose would be served in accepting Russia's proposal for a big power disarmament conference before agreement had been reached on preliminary steps in the world organization's disarmament commission.

Such a conference, he said, "could only provide a platform for more propaganda speeches."

BLAMES RUSSIA

Putting the blame on Russia for disarmament failures, Lloyd said:

"When there is already in existence a body such as the disarmament commission, on which the U.S.S.R. is represented—a sort of standing conference—the Soviet Union, asks for a new conference on the vaguest possible basis."

"All sorts of difficulties are made about the assembling of any conference that could get on with practical work. When it is quite obvious that a conference could only provide a platform for more propaganda speeches—in other words, do no useful work—the Soviet Union are its enthusiastic sponsors. This attitude, which at times seems to be quite cynical, is discouraging and indeed exasperating."

PROMPT DENIAL

Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky promptly denied Lloyd's charge. He renewed Russia's long-standing demand for simultaneous implementation of a ban on nuclear weapons and establishment of an international control organization—which the west has rejected as impractical—and said: "I am prepared to announce that not only will no atomic weapons be produced, but not a thousandth or a millionth of a ruble will be spent to produce them in the Soviet Union in that case."

Lloyd presented a 14-power resolution calling upon the UN disarmament commission to continue its efforts to reach agreement.

The resolution was sponsored by Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Denmark, France, Greece, Lebanon, New Zealand, Pakistan, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States.

FINNISH SWITCH

HELSINKI (AP) — Sakari Tuomioja, 42-year-old head of Finland's National Bank, agreed today to try to form a new government. Premier Urho Kekkonen resigned Wednesday after losing a vote in the parliamentary steering committee.

All Canada Congratulates New Senator

Congratulatory telegrams and phone calls continued today to reach Victoria's Mrs. Nancy Hodges who was appointed to the Senate Thursday.

They are coming from all over the Dominion. The farthest came from St. John's, Newfoundland.

Meanwhile Senator Hodges hurried with packing, shopping and last-minute details.

She will fly to Ottawa Tuesday to be sworn into office, and plans to return the following week. Usually the Senate adjourns soon after opening, and reconvenes when new legislation is ready.

It is not known if Mrs. Hodges will participate in the November 24 Victoria by-election campaign. If she does not, it will be the first campaign in years she has watched from the sidelines.

Dies in Fiery Ashes of Stove

VANCOUVER (CP) — An aged man died Thursday in a pyre of fiery ashes which had spilled out of his kitchen stove.

The charred body of John Orr, 82, was discovered by neighbors.

It is believed he suffered a heart attack while cleaning the ash pit of the stove.

Reds Accept UN Plan To Break Deadlock

PANMUNJOM, Korea (UP) — The Communists accepted today a United Nations proposal for informal discussions of staff advisers in an attempt to break the deadlock in the talks on arrangements for the Korean peace conference.

A UN spokesman said it was the "sense" of the Allied proposal that the meetings should be secret.

Preliminary sessions on the make-up of the peace conference are recessed indefinitely while the lower-level talks are in progress. High level negotiators had met 10 times earlier without progress.

Meanwhile, the 22 American war prisoners who refuse to return home held two Indian officers as hostages today until the neutral commission agreed to hear PW complaints that letters sent to them from the United States contained threats.

The American anti-repatriates charged that the United Nations is attempting to "coerce, slander and bribe them" into returning home.

The U.S. command so far has made no attempt to question the men and get them to change their minds.

No explanations had been scheduled for Saturday because it is an Indian national holiday—the "Festival of Light."

Sunday is a "no-work" day for the neutral commission observers at the talks.

Only Lt. Ken. K. S. Thimaya's personal influence with the prisoners appeared able to save the program because the neutral commission is deadlocked over the use of force in bringing the prisoners before Red "explaners."

THAT ROARING MAY BE NEWEST RCAF FIGHTER!

Canada's newest fighter plane—the supersonic twin-jet CF-100—was scheduled to make an appearance over Victoria this afternoon.

The plane, recently brought to Vancouver from the east, was to be piloted by Flt. Lieut. Mike Kobierski of Campbell River.

At press time it was not known whether weather conditions would permit the planned low-level run.

Abandon Hope For Eight Men Trapped in Mine

BONANZA, Utah (UP) — Eight miners trapped in the fiery and fume-filled shaft of the Bonanza No. 1 Gilsonite mine were given up for dead today.

Rescue workers still labored stubbornly under searchlights to put out the blaze in the mine and reach the men.

The rescue crews looked ghostly and unreal as the probing lights reflected off layers of white paste they had smeared on their faces as protection against the fire's heat. A drizzling rain beat down on 100 spectators gathered around the shaft head.

All hope that the men, trapped by an explosion Thursday morning, were alive was abandoned after two volunteers rode dragline buckets down the shaft to the 300-foot level and were turned back by a jumble of timber and debris.

One trapped miner, Kenneth R. Richens of Vernal, Utah, was married only recently and a wedding reception in his honor had been planned for today.

Another victim, Glen Jackson, is the father of nine children.

"There's no chance those men are alive," said Sheriff Herb Snyder of Vernal, Utah. "If they weren't killed by the blast or the fire, the fumes from the burning gilsonite probably got them."

Gilsonite is a rare hydrocarbon substance found only at Bonanza and used in the manufacture of battery cases and as a base for paints and varnish. It is extremely explosive in powdered form.

It was believed such powder caused the blast that trapped the eight miners Thursday morning.

Russia Demands Chinese Reds at Any Peace Parley

MOSCOW (UP) — Marshal Klementi Voroshilov, president of the presidium of the Supreme Soviet said in a major policy speech today that tension in Asia can not be eased without taking Communist China into account.

Voroshilov, principal speaker at a gala celebration at the Bolshoi Theatre of the 36th anniversary of the Bolshevik revolution, said Russia wants peace in Europe and has repeatedly made proposals for a just settlement of the German problem.

But as regards Asia, he said, the "Chinese People's Republic" can not be ignored, and without it Asian tension can not be relieved.

Coldwell Would Advance Wheat Farmers $500 Million

SASKATOON (BUP) — Western wheat farmers would receive an immediate payment of more than $500,000,000 under a proposal advanced Thursday night by CCF Leader M. J. Coldwell.

Coldwell told a party provincial convention the government should make an advance payment of a dollar a bushel to farmers with wheat stored on their property because they are unable to deliver their crop to crammed elevators.

Latest figures from the bureau of statistics in Ottawa show an estimated 526,000,000 bushels of wheat stored on farms.

Coldwell said if such a payment were not made "farmers and small businessmen in farm areas will suffer severe financial hardship." He added that many farmers would be "forced to borrow money at high interest rates."

Last week, at the annual meeting of the Manitoba wheat

World's Latest Trouble Spot

While Trieste and Rome were reported wracked by riots today, Yugoslav troops applauded antics of feminine reception committee that greeted them when they marched into Trieste's Zone B following recent Anglo-American decision regarding the free territory. The decision gave Zone B to Yugoslavia and Zone A to Italy. However, Yugoslav President Tito has announced that he will not accept the decision—that if Italian troops moved into Zone A he would use armed force to stop them. (SNS Photo.)

Gregory Receives Liberal Nomination

Young Lawyer Plays 'Tax-Made Tyrants' In Accepting Fight for Victoria Seat

A young lawyer, George F. Gregory, who says B.C. "tax-mad tyrants" have gone far enough, is the Liberal Party's nominee for the Victoria by-election Nov. 24.

He won the nomination by unanimous choice Tuesday night.

He will contest the city seat with Social Finance Minister Einar Gunderson, Tory leader Deane Finlayson, CCF's Alfred Matthews and Labor-Progressive Mrs. Doris Blakey.

Deadline for nominations is 1 p.m., Nov. 16.

The Liberal candidate said the "tax-mad tyrants" are claiming reduced debt on one hand, but on the other is increasing revenue by new taxation.

Social Credit, he added, claims it's not a political party and doesn't play politics "yet it has the unique distinction of being the only party to break every pledge but one in its first session."

"The one was the liquor act, but they 'loused that up' by imposing a 10 per cent tax because they didn't have the courage of their convictions," Mr. Gregory said.

The important thing in the by-election, he said, is whether or not the people have approved the government's policies.

"If Mr. Gunderson is elected, Premier Bennett will interpret it as approval by the voters of his taxing policies," he stated.

He said persons who are against Social Credit should be convinced they must vote Liberal, no matter what party they belong to.

Mr. Gregory scoffed at Premier Bennett's claim that Mr. Gunderson stands head and shoulders above all other financial men.

"Mr. Gunderson boasts of debt reductions but adds taxes," he said. "There never has been a more perfidious group than Social Credit."

Mr. Gregory is a native Victorian. He was educated here and at the University of B.C., and received his LL.B. at Harvard Law School.

He is a son of the late F. B. Gregory, a judge of the Supreme Court of B.C.

The candidate is a naval veteran, serving as a lieutenant on a corvette on the Atlantic during the Second World War. He was wounded when his ship was torpedoed. He was awarded the DSC.

He is married and has two children.

U.S. Expected To Test Super Bomb Soon

WASHINGTON (UP) — The United States is believed to be getting set to test fire a new super bomb.

It will be a thermonuclear or fusion weapon, as was the shock-sized hydrogen device exploded at Eniwetok a year ago.

But it may incorporate (1) new materials (2) the same materials in different proportions, or (3) the same materials in the same proportions but rigged more compactly to make a deliverable combat weapon.

Informal sources here have indicated that the new tests will be conducted at Bikini in the spring.

Bikini, 180 miles east of Eniwetok in the Pacific's Marshall Islands, has been converted by the Atomic Energy Commission into a new weapons proving ground.

Communism Plot

TEHRAN (AP) — The military governor of Tehran announced today that three men have been arrested in connection with an alleged Communist plot to assassinate Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi of Iran.

At Least 10 Dead; Embassies Bombarded

By CHARLES RIDLEY

TRIESTE (UP) — Disputed Trieste was wracked today by bloody riots.

The violence, fanned by strongly-Nationalist Italian elements, brought death to at least 10 persons, injury to scores and touched off international chain reactions including:

1. Armed intervention by U.S. and British troops to restore order.
2. A formal Italian protest to the United States and Britain against the shooting of Italian demonstrators at Trieste.
3. Anti-American and Anti-British demonstrations and rioting in Rome.

American and British troops set up machinegun positions and patrolled Trieste's blood-stained streets in armed jeeps under orders to use bullets and bayonets if necessary to preserve order.

At least temporary calm was restored after the appearance of the western allied troops, but the situation was tense and explosive.

U.S. and British soldiers in full battle kit were called out when local Trieste police reported the situation out of control in spite of their efforts to restore order with gunfire and tear gas.

The disorders began three days ago as pro-Italian student demonstrations in support of Italy's claims to the Trieste free territory which she is disputing with Yugoslavia.

Today the riots had mushroomed into bitter, popular anger against the deaths of demonstrators under police gunfire and had become an international incident.

British, U.S. Embassies Stoned

In Rome the rioting was strongly anti-American and anti-British. British consular offices and other installations were stoned and smashed. British civilians were beaten and British cars were wrecked. Thousands of demonstrators attempted to smash their way into the American embassy and battled police in front of its barred iron gates as U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce watched from inside its grounds.

Police broke up a second demonstration in front of the embassy early tonight by drenching 3,000 marchers with powerful streams of water from fire hoses.

Italy's Premier Giuseppe Peella, who conferred earlier with Mrs. Luce, handed formal notes of protest to Britain and the United States later in the day.

He also called Italy's ambassador home from London for urgent consultations.

Upwards of 20,000 persons—mostly students—rioted and demonstrated in Rome.

At the height of the Rome disorders Dr. Allen Tate, of the University of Minnesota, was saved from a beating by rioting extremists when friendly Italians intervened. His car was assaulted by students.

When the rioters attempted to drag him from his automobile, a group of Italians not participating in the riot formed a cordon around him and prevented the students from reaching him.

Dr. Tate is a visiting lecturer in literature and poetry at Rome University.

More than 50,000 were involved in the bloody disorders which erupted through Trieste's wide squares and rumbled through the city's downtown boulevards.

U.S. Military Police Sgt. Andrew Mare of Fort Morgan, Colo., and his driver, Cpl. Fred Durer of Venice, Ill., described the rioting in front of Trieste's city hall in the Piazza Unita and adjoining streets.

"The crowd was really mad when we first showed up," Mare said.

"They threw three big bombs, but I couldn't see how many were killed."

"There was blood all over the place. The paving stones were slick with it."

The deaths resulted from efforts of the local police, trained by the British and U.S. forces, to control the crowds with gunfire.

The rioting began three days ago as Italian student demonstrations in support of Italy's claims to Trieste. They got out of hand after three persons were killed Thursday by police gunfire.

LCB Sets New Rules For B.C. Liquor Ads

All liquor advertising in B.C. will be subject to direct approval of the Liquor Control Board, it was disclosed today when instructions went out from Col. Don McGugan, LCB chairman, to liquor manufacturers.

The new instruction carries out a change in policy under the new Liquor Act, passed at the last session, which gives the board authority to pass on liquor advertising.

Previously LCB's control over advertising only covered the size and type of the well-known notice: "This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board."

Under the new ruling the Liquor Board has "suggested" to liquor advertisers that they should not run advertisements larger than two columns by eight inches in size, apparently in an effort to curb a spurge of liquor advertising when the new drinks-by-the-glass system gets into operation.

It also will refuse to approve ads with exaggerated claims about liquor, or carrying any statements which are not indisputable facts.

The board has also ruled that liquor manufacturers or distributors must submit their advertisements directly to the board for approval. It cannot be done by either advertising agencies or by newspaper publishers who receive the ads for publication.

BOW STREET COURT IN BEDLAM

200 Riotous Students Appear After Wild Guy Fawkes' Night

LONDON (AP) — Shouting hymn-singing university students turned famed Bow Street Court into a bedlam today when hearings began on mass arrests resulting from one of the most riotous Guy Fawkes nights in London history.

Singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," they marched through the packed and littered Covent Garden market area, strewn with exploding firecrackers in their wake, and tried to rush the doors of the court when they were thrown open.

Police, standing shoulder to shoulder, barred their way. The police finally managed to clear a space, and the more than 200 students arrested Thursday night were ushered into the court, all charged with "wantonly discharging a firework in the street."

Once inside the court's two chambers, most of the students pleaded guilty to the charges and paid small fines.

Some students snarled proceedings by insisting on calling witnesses from the shouting, jeering throng outside—an almost-impossible job.

The hearings were the aftermath of a wild outburst Thursday night in London's west end, climaxed by a march of 10,000 university students and other young people on the Houses of Parliament.

In Piccadilly Circus, 65 bobbies stood shoulder to shoulder against assaults on the famous statue of Eros—Greek god of love—which dominates the traffic circle. Climbing the statue is a favorite stunt of celebrating Britons.

The annual celebration—in honor of the 17th-century plotter who tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament—started off calmly with millions of Britons dancing around bonfires, burning effigies of "the Guy," and drinking ale.

LCB Sets New Rules
For B.C. Liquor Ads

All liquor advertising in B.C. to liquor advertisers that they should not run advertisements larger than two columns by eight inches in size, apparently in an effort to curb a spurge from Col. Donald McGugan, chairman, to liquor manufacturers.

The new instruction carries out a change in policy under the new Liquor Act, passed at the last session, which gives the board authority to pass on liquor advertising.

Previously LCB's control over advertising only covered the size and type of the well-known notice: "This advertisement is not published or displayed by the Liquor Control Board."

Under the new ruling the Liquor Board has "suggested" to liquor advertisers that they should not run advertisements larger than two columns by eight inches in size, apparently in an effort to curb a spurge from Col. Donald McGugan, chairman, to liquor manufacturers.

It also will refuse to approve ads with exaggerated claims about liquor, or carrying any statements which are not indisputable facts.

The board has also ruled that liquor manufacturers or distributors must submit their ads to the board for approval. It cannot be done by either advertising agencies or by newspaper publishers who receive the ads for publication.

RUSSIANS ON DISARMAMENT14 Nations Call
For New Conference

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Britain today blamed Russia's "cynical, discouraging and exasperating" attitude for the failure of United Nations disarmament efforts and called for a new start to work out "practical arrangements" for disarmament.

British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd told the UN's main political committee that no useful purpose would be served in accepting Russia's proposal for a big power disarmament conference before agreement had been reached on preliminary steps in the world organization's disarmament commission.

Such a conference, he said, "could only provide a platform for more propaganda speeches." Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky promptly denied Lloyd's charge. He renewed Russia's long-standing demand for simultaneous implementation of a ban on nuclear weapons and establishment of an international control organization — which the west has rejected as impractical — and said: "I am prepared to announce that not only will no atomic weapons be produced, but not a thousandth or a millionth of a ruble will be spent to produce them in the Soviet Union in that case."

Lloyd presented a 14-power resolution calling upon the UN disarmament commission to continue its efforts to reach agreement.

The resolution was sponsored by Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Colombia, Denmark, France, Greece, Lebanon, New Zealand, Pakistan, Turkey, the United Kingdom and the United States.

Congratulatory telegrams and phone calls continued today to reach Victoria's Mrs. Nancy Hodges who was appointed to the Senate Thursday.

They are coming from all over the Dominion. The farthest came from St. John's, Newfoundland.

Meanwhile Senator Hodges hurried with packing, shopping and last-minute details.

She will fly to Ottawa Tuesday to be sworn into office, and plans to return the following week. Usually the Senate adjourns soon after opening, and re-convenes when new legislation is ready.

World's Most Troubled Spot

While Trieste and Rome were reported wracked by riots today, Yugoslav troops applauded antics of feminine reception committee that greeted them when they marched into Trieste's Zone B following recent Anglo-American decision regarding the free territory. The decision gave Zone B to Yugoslavia and Zone A to Italy. However, Yugoslav President Tito has announced that he will not accept the decision—that if Italian troops moved into Zone A he would use armed force to stop them. (SNS Photo.)

Abandon Hope
For Eight Men
Trapped in Mine

BONANZA, Utah (UP)—Eight miners trapped in the fiery and fume-filled shaft of the Bonanza No. 1 Gilsontine mine were given up for dead today.

Rescue workers still labored stubbornly under searchlights to put out the blaze in the mine and reach the men.

The rescue crews looked ghostly and unreal as the probing lights reflected off layers of white paste they had smeared on their faces as protection against the fire's heat. A drizzling rain beat down on 100 spectators gathered around the shaft head.

British and U.S. Troops
Patrol Streets; 10 Dead

By CHARLES RIDLEY

TRIESTE (UP)—Disputed Trieste was wracked today by bloody riots.

The violence, fanned by strongly-Nationalist Italian elements, brought death to at least 10 persons, injury to scores and touched off international chain reactions including:

1. Armed intervention by U.S. and British troops to restore order.

2. A formal Italian protest to the United States and Britain against the shooting of Italian demonstrators at Trieste.

3. Anti-American and Anti-British demonstrations and rioting in Rome.

American and British troops set up machinegun positions and patrolled Trieste's blood-stained streets in armed jeeps under orders to use bullets and bayonets if necessary to preserve order.

At least temporary calm was restored after the appearance of the western allied troops, but the situation was tense and explosive.

full battle kit were called out when local Trieste police reported the situation out of control in spite of their efforts to restore order with gunfire and tear gas.

The disorders began three days ago as pro-Italian student demonstrations in support of Italy's claims to the Trieste free territory which she is disputing with Yugoslavia.

Today the riots had mushroomed into bitter, popular anger against the deaths of demonstrators under police gunfire and had become an international incident.

British, U.S. Embassies Stoned

In Rome the rioting was strongly anti-American and anti-British. British consular offices and other installations were stoned and smashed. British civilians were beaten and British cars were wrecked.

Thousands of demonstrators attempted to smash their way into the American embassy and battled police in front of its barred iron gates as U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce watched from inside its grounds.

Police broke up a second demonstration in front of the embassy early tonight by drenching 3,000 marchers with powerful streams of water from fire hoses.

Italy's Premier Giuseppe Peella, who conferred earlier with Mrs. Luce, handed formal notes of protest to Britain and the United States later in the day.

He also called Italy's ambassador home from London for urgent consultations.

Upwards of 20,000 persons—mostly students—rioted and demonstrated in Rome.

At the height of the Rome disorders Dr. Allen Tate, of the University of Minnesota, was saved from a beating by rioting extremists when friendly Italian intervened. His car was assaulted by students.

When the rioters attempted to drag him from his automobile, a group of Italians not participating in the riot formed a cordon around him and prevented the students from reaching him.

Dr. Tate is a visiting lecturer in literature and poetry at Rome University.

More than 50,000 were involved in the bloody disorders which erupted through Trieste's wide squares and rumbled through the city's downtown boulevards.

U.S. Military Police Sgt. Andrew Mare of Fort Morgan, Colo., and his driver, Cpl. Fred Durer of Venice, Ill., described the rioting in front of Trieste's city hall in the Piazza Unita and adjoining streets.

"The crowd was really mad when we first showed up," Mare said.

"They threw three big bombs, but I couldn't see how many were killed."

"There was blood all over the place. The paving stones were slick with it."

BOW STREET COURT IN BEDLAM

200 Riotous Students Appear
After Wild Guy Fawkes' Night

LONDON (AP)—Shouting, hymn-singing university students turned famed Bow Street Court into a bedlam today when hearings began on mass arrests resulting from one of the most riotous Guy Fawkes nights in London history.

Singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," they marched through the packed and littered Covent Garden market area, strewing exploding firecrackers in their wake, and tried to rush the doors of the court when they were thrown open.

Policemen, standing shoulder to shoulder, barred their way.

The annual celebration—in honor of the 17th-century plotter who tried to blow up the Houses of Parliament—started off calmly with millions of Britons dancing around bonfires, burning effigies of "the Guy" and drinking ale.
